Soviet Counter-Attacks at Smolensk May Be Decisive

London, Aug. 1.

FIFTEEN days after the Germans claimed to have occupied Smolensk, fighting continues with undiminished fury round that city, lending further weight to neutral reports and opinions that Red troops have thrown the Nazi war machine out of gear.

While there is no confirmation that a big-scale Soviet counter-offensive is under way, the series of blows which the Russians have been dealing the Germans—and which the latter admit—indicate that a decision at Smolensk may not be delayed much longer.

Germans Claim Advance Still Progressing

Berlin, Aug. 1.

The battle on the eastern front continues to progress favourably, the High Command announced today, but still continued to maintain silence regarding the extent of the German advance in any one sector.

One propaganda company reporter described an advance through the Valdai hills, about 80 miles south-east of Lake Ilmen, near the mid-way point of the Leningrad-Moscow railway, but there were no further indications of spearhead positions en route to Leningrad, Moscow or Kiev.

Neither were there any hints regarding when the central sector's battle of pockets might be announced as terminated.

Two reports from the Smolensk area indicated that the Russians were still offering strong resistance from within the pockets and there were no accounts of the battle east of Smolensk.

Nazi Taken by Surprise

A report from the Smolensk area said that on Wednesday German artillery batteries were surprised by Russian infantry attempting to break out of the German encirclement. The Germans, however, repulsed the Russians by resorting to the use of rifles and side-arms and killing 300 Soviets.

Another description of a different break-through attempt by trapped Reds said that during a 35-minute battle German anti-aircraft guns destroyed 26 Soviet tanks supporting Russian infantry.

Soviets Said Hurled Back

Soviet infantry units attempting to break through the German cordon east of Smolensk on Wednesday were hurled back by German artillery fire according to reports published last night by D.N.B., official news agency.

During the course of the "large battle," the Luftwaffe battered Russian columns and destroyed 27 guns, 33 tanks and 140 trucks. The Luftwaffe simultaneously bombed fortifications, marching and motorized columns, troop concentrations, supply transports and railway facilities.

Simultaneously, German fighter planes and destroyer planes attacked a Soviet aerodrome east of Smolensk and without losing a single plane dropped "destructive sticks" of bombs on hundreds of Soviet planes grounded on the field, it was claimed.

D.N.B. reported that a Soviet infantry regiment surrounded west of Lake Peipus was completely annihilated on Wednesday when the Russians attempted to storm German defence positions after two previous attacks had failed.

The Red Air Fleet, according to D.N.B., lost 112 planes during fighting yesterday. Fifty-seven of the planes were shot down in aerial encounters while the remainder were destroyed on the ground.—United Press.

Communist Party Criticized by T.U.C.

London, Aug. 1.

The British Trade Union Congress and the Labour Party welcome co-operation between Great Britain and Russia but state that no association with the Communist Party is possible.

Recording "warm appreciation of the great efforts in our common struggle against Hitlerism," the two bodies see nothing in the situation justifying common action by the Labour movement and the Communist Party of Great Britain. They declare that all sections of the community have given the utmost effort, the Communist Party being the single striking exception.

"The Communist Party has taken every opportunity to obstruct and weaken the national effort and during the war has demonstrated its irresponsible and unstable character."—Reuter.

Observers gleaned almost as much information by reading between the lines of today's official communiques as from the scanty statements lacking specific claims contained therein. The daily announcement from the Soviet Information Bureau differed very little from yesterday except that it mentioned operations in the Baltic Sea.

Last night fighting continued in the Novorzhev, Smolensk and Zhitomir regions; in other sectors there were no major engagements, the communique says.

Air Attacks

Russian aircraft attacked mechanized units, infantry, artillery and automobile columns. Planes operating over the Baltic sank one vessel and inflicted considerable damaged on two others, the statement says in conclusion.

From the general tone of the announcements it seems evident that at the end of the sixth week of the struggle the Russians are holding off the Germans. Authoritative quarters in London take the view that the apparent quiescence may indicate the Germans are preparing for a renewed offensive.

Every time they are forced to reorganize to attempt a fresh drive they are confronted with increasing difficulties. It is estimated that they have hitherto used at least half their armoured divisions and suffered very heavy losses in men and material. At the same time they are farther from their lines of communications, and any new attack must logically be weaker than previous ones.

Counter-Attacks

An earlier Russian communique stated that Marshal Timoshenko's forces launched a fresh series of strong counter-attacks in the southern sector. It said that in particularly stubborn fighting the Germans were thrown back with severe losses.

Another official Russian announcement says that Smolensk has now resisted over 40 assaults. Russian statements lend no support to German claims of deep penetrations into the Ukraine.

In the north the German drive on Leningrad is apparently still held up. Russian forces are stated to be fighting just east of the Latvian frontier, 150 to 200 miles south of Leningrad.

The Moscow radio tells of a Russian unit left in the enemy's rear which marched more than 500 miles and operated for more than 30 days in forests, attacking the Germans wherever they could be found.

Little Damage in Raid

The official Russian news agency says that very little damage was done in last night's raid on Moscow. One of the surprises to neutral observers in the campaign hitherto has been the apparent absence of large-scale raids on the capital.

The British air attaik on Kirkenes "caused a sensation in Berlin particularly because it was a combined Anglo-Russian operation Russian bombers having participated in the mass attack," states the Berlin correspondent of "La Suisse," according to a message from Zurich.

He adds that the Germans admit that their encircling manœuvre in the Smolensk sector has obliged them to fight in two directions against counter-attacks coming from both east and west.—Reuter.

Nazis Admit Russian Campaign Slowed

Tokyo, Aug. 1.

A special "Nichi Nichi" despatch from Sofia reports that German military experts are now of the opinion that:

1. Operations against Soviet Russia will require three months instead of the scheduled two months.
2. The Ukraine harvest must be abandoned until next year,
3. Soviet resistance has forced Germany to add 50 divisions to the original 400, and,
4. Although the Luftwaffe has scored overwhelming victories, a considerable Soviet air force remains.—Reuter.

Soviet Troops Said Hitting Back in Smolensk Region

New York, Aug. 1.

SOVIET Russia's Red Army was reported to be hitting back at the German Army with heavy counter attacks east of Smolensk yesterday as Great Britain staged an Arctic air attack to aid her ally and Mr. Harry Hopkins, American aid administrator, conferred in Moscow on Red war needs.

Marshal Semyon Budenny, Commander of the Southwestern Front, was reported in a Moscow radio broadcast to have issued a proclamation asserting that powerful Soviet reinforcements had been brought up to enable the Red Army to strike heavy blows against the German forces.

Marshal Budenny appealed to Russians in the occupied areas to intensify their guerilla activity in a coordinated campaign to "exterminate" the invaders.

D.N.B., official German news agency, admitted that the Red Army had started counter-attacks using infantry backed up by tanks but said that these thrusts were repulsed with heavy losses. The agency claimed that among the Russian troops engaged were Soviet regiments from Siberia.

British aerial action was directed at Kirkenes and Petsamo, used by the Germans in support of their operations against nearby Murmansk.

A report from Stockholm said that German-Finnish operations against Murmansk had made little progress.—United Press.

Germans Reported Defeated

London, Aug. 1.

The Exchange Telegraph news agency last night quoted private Soviet sources in Moscow as revealing that the German High Command had launched 42 attacks on Smolensk but each attack was repelled with the Germans suffering heavy losses. Despite German claims of the capture of Smolensk, the report said that a Soviet garrison was still holding the city, which straddles the route to Moscow.

Million Nazi Losses?

General Sikorski, Premier of the Polish Government-in-Exile, estimated that Nazi Germany had suffered close to one million killed and wounded during the Russian war so far during a radio broadcast over the B.B.C. yesterday. He said that almost four-fifths of the Reichswehr was engaged in the struggle against Russia.—United Press.

Hitler Will Lose, Says Hopkins

Moscow, Aug. 1.

Mr. Harry Hopkins, President Roosevelt's personal envoy and co-ordinator of the aid-Britain and United States defence programme, told the United Press last night that his short visit here "has added to my confidence that Chancellor Adolf Hitler will lose."

Mr. Hopkins held a second conference with M. Joseph Stalin during the night. They were closeted alone for three hours at the Kremlin with only interpreters present. The United States Ambassador, Mr. Laurence Steinhardt, and other United States officials and high Russian officials were not present, although they attended the first conference.—United Press.

Discussions in Progress

London, Aug. 1.

Discussions regarding United States aid to the Soviet Union were held both in Washington and Moscow yesterday.

Reuters Moscow correspondent cables tonight that Mr. Harry Hopkins, President Roosevelt's personal envoy, again saw Stalin last night after meeting M. Molotov, the Foreign Commissar, in the afternoon.

Mr. Hopkins was entertained to lunch by the British Ambassador, Sir Stafford Cripps, at which the American Ambassador, Mr. Laurence Steinhardt, was present.

In Washington, the Soviet Ambassador, M. Oumanky, General Golikov, head of the Soviet Purchasing Mission, and Colonel Repin, his assistant, visited President Roosevelt at the White House to discuss American aid to Russia.—Reuter.

Arranging Loan

Washington, Aug. 1.

Mr. William S. Knudsen, co-chairman of the National Defence Board, yesterday said that he understood from reliable reports that Mr. Harry Hopkins, coordinator of the United States aid programme, was in Moscow to arrange details of an American loan to Russia.

Roosevelt Receives Russian Mission

Washington, Aug. 1.

President Roosevelt yesterday received M. Constantine Oumansky, Russian Ambassador, and Lieut. General Philip Ivanovitch Golikov, Soviet Deputy Chief of Staff and head of the Russian military mission, and his aide, and discussed United States aid to Russia.

M. Oumansky told the United Press that "our Deputy Chief of Staff and his assistant highly appreciated the warm and friendly reception. General Golikov said that it was extremely easy to discuss military questions with President Roosevelt.

"He said that one feels he is acquainted with all problems involved and that he is the commander-in-chief, not only by constitutional right, but also through knowledge and deep understanding of the international political situation."—United Press.

The loan would be made under the U.S.$7,000,000,000 lend-lease programme.—United Press.

Welcomed in Mocow

Moscow, Aug. 1.

The Russian press yesterday devoted its main news columns to the arrival of Mr. Harry Hopkins, American aid coordinator, utilizing photographs of his meeting with Mr. Joseph Stalin and statements that President Roosevelt had pledged immediate aid to Russia.

Mr. Hopkins experienced his first night raid on Wednesday in Moscow and watched anti-aircraft batteries and searchlights in action from the roof of the American Embassy. He passed part of the time in the Embassy shelter but returned to bed before the all clear was sounded.

Yesterday morning he was accompanied by Mr. Lawrence Steinhardt, American Ambassador, on a tour of Moscow and said he was amazed by the insignificance of the damage caused by the Luftwaffe.—United Press.

Flight Said Significant

Washington, Aug. 1.

Experts on Soviet Russian affairs declared yesterday that the flight to Moscow by Mr. Harry Hopkins, coordinator of American Lend-and-Lease aid to Britain, aboard a long-range bomber was likely to prove highly significant concerning future collaboration among the United States, Britain and Soviet Russia because it proved that bombers can be flown easily from England to Moscow.

These experts said that if a single bomber carrying Mr. Hopkins could make the trip, scores of bombers could be flown over a similar route to strengthen Russian aerial defences.

It was pointed out that if a considerable number of these craft were placed in Russian hands and operated by the British pilots from the Russian side, Germany would suffer from aerial attacks on both flanks.—United Press.

May Return Via China

London, July 31.

It was reliably learned that Mr. Harry Hopkins, personal envoy of President Roosevelt, might return to the United States by some other route than London.

It was indicated that Mr. Hopkins, who is at present in Moscow, might return via the Far East, possibly visiting Chungking.—Domei.

Polish Ministers Resign

London, Aug. 1.

The Foreign Minister, M. Zaleski, and two other Polish Ministers have resigned from the Polish Government in London following the signature of the Soviet-Polish pact.—Reuter.

One Killed, Two Injured In Nanking Celebrations

AN attempt by a terrorist to halt a lantern procession held in the Western district yesterday to celebrate Axis recognition of the Nanking Government ended fatally for him when a hand grenade, which he had concealed in his person, exploded. Two suspected confederates including a young Chinese girl sustained severe bodily injuries.

Long before the procession started a crowd of more than 20,000 persons thronged the vicinity and entrance of Jessfield Park. Shortly after 5 p.m. a terrorist entered the park with a grenade of the military type concealed underneath his clothing. While in the lavatory he accidentally released the safety catch of the infernal machine, which immediately exploded.

The explosion resulted in his dismemberment and immediate death. Two suspected accomplices included Miss Fong Ning, a 22 year old girl, who were in the vicinity sustained serious injuries. Miss Ning was injured in the head while the other suspect, Chang Ching-yuan, a twenty year old native of Ningpo, sustained severe badly injuries. Both were removed to hospital.

Owing to the careful and well-planned measures taken by the Western Area Special Police to guard against terroristic acts the incident did not delay the holding of the procession for one minute. The precautionary measures taken for the protection of the public were worked out by Commissioner C. C. Pan of the Western Area Special Police assisted by Mr. J. B. Clissold, the Deputy Commissioner.

Order was restored out of the chaos within a remarkably short while following the explosion with the result that the arrangements for the procession were carried out without a hitch. Officers of the Special Police attached to its crime branch made an immediate investigation of the incident. The procession, which was one of the principal festivities connected with the celebrations yesterday of the recognition of the new Nanking Government by eight foreign powers terminated at about 10 p.m. at the corner of Bubbling Well and Great Western Roads.

Japanese Stop Foreigners Leaving Chefoo

The Japanese are refusing to permit any foreigners to leave Chefoo, according to a telegram received in Shanghai yesterday. No reasons for the refusal were given. It was also stated that mails are being held up. It is understood that an appeal has been made to the British Consulate in the northern port and that representations are being made to the Japanese authorities.

If there is no relaxation of the ban before August 6, the party of pupils of the China Inland Mission Schools in Chefoo which was due to leave for Shanghai on that date may be delayed. Other parties which were due to sail for Tientsin will also be prevented from sailing.

It was learned yesterday that several of the children who were due to leave Chefoo on August 6 had been booked as passengers on the President liner which is to leave Shanghai for the United States about the middle of this month. If the refusal of the Japanese to allow these children to sail continues, serious inconvenience may be caused to several Shanghai families.

So far as could be learned yesterday there are no excuses, such as quarantine, etc., which can be held valid for the Japanese action. No news of any epidemic prevailing in the port has reached Shanghai.

Embargoed Goods Listed

Fourteen categories of goods upon which an export embargo has been placed were listed yesterday by the Chinese Directorate of Customs. The list will be found on the Commerce and Finance Page today.

German Representation Rejected by Argentine

Buenos Aires, Aug. 1.

The Argentine Foreign Office last night rejected the contention of the German Ambassador regarding the seizure of parcels from diplomatic bags.

It informed the Ambassador that a wireless set is not permissible as diplomatic baggage and pointed out that an international convention prohibits belligerent Powers from having wireless stations in a neutral country. The Ambassador is therefore requested to destroy the set or send it from the country.—Reuter.

Peru-Ecuador Hostilities Cease

Lima, Aug. 1.

Peru and Ecuador ceased their hostilities at 6 p.m. on Thursday, the Governments officially announced today.

The hostilities were brought to a halt after Peruvian troops had occupied the Ecuadorian city of Machala and other villages, the official announcement said.—United Press.

Tutuila Bombing Incident Now Closed

Washington, Aug. 1.

Japan has promised a complete investigation of the bombing by Japanese aeroplanes of the American gunboat, U.S.S. Tutuila, at Chungking and has promised to make full indemnity for damage incurred, Mr. Sumner Welles, Under-secretary of State, announced yesterday.

Mr. Welles, who earlier had indicated that the United States was not satisfied with Japan's informal apologies for the bombing of the gunboat, said that as a result of Japan's promises the incident was now considered closed.

Mr. Welles told the press earlier in the day that it was a fair deduction to say that the Japanese reply so far had not been satisfactory.

Informal Apologies

He said that Mr. Joseph C. Grew, American Ambassador to Tokyo, had received only a preliminary reply to representations from the United States. He added that nothing further could be said in Washington until a definite reply had been received.

Mr. Grew received informal apologies from Admiral Teijiro Toyoda, Foreign Minister, and Mr. Kumaichi Yamamoto, Vice Foreign Minister.

Mr. Welles explained that the United States had lodged representations against the bombing with Japan, both in Washington and in Tokyo. Mr. Grew was informed that Tokyo had no details of the attack but regrets were expressed. A representative of the Japanese Navy Ministry telephoned the American Naval Attache and expressed regrets.

Mr. Welles then added that until Mr. Grew received a definite reply there would be no further statement in Washington.—United Press.

Regrets Expressed

Tokyo, Aug. 1.

Japanese officials yesterday expressed to the United States Ambassador, Mr. Joseph C. Grew, their regret for damage done to the American gunboat, Tutuila, at Chungking Wednesday during a Japanese air raid.

The Chief Aide of Admiral Koishiro Oikawa, Navy Minister, called on Commander Henri Smith-Hutton, American Naval Attache, and expressed regret for the bombing.

Earlier, Admiral Teijiro Toyoda, Foreign Minister, asked Mr. Grew to call on him and at that time expressed regrets for the bombing. The Embassy announced at the last minute that the Foreign Office had asked Mr. Grew to call on Admiral Toyoda, although previously it was announced that the Ambassador would visit the American diplomat.

Mr. Grew took advanage of the meeting to protest against the strict Japanese censorship. The Vice Foreign Minister, Mr. Kumaichi Yamamoto earlier yesterday called on Mr. Grew and expressed regrets for the bombing.—United Press.

Japanese Press Ban

Tokyo, Aug. 1.

Mr. Koh Ishii, Deputy Spokesman of the Information Board, told foreign correspondent today that the Foreign Minister, Admiral Teijiro Toyoda, conferred yesterday with Mr. Joseph C. Grew, United States Ambassador, regarding the Tutuila affair. He refused to divulge details, however, and said that Admiral Toyoda was at present waiting for an official report.

The Deputy Spokesman denied that Japan was enforcing general censorship of outgoing cables when questioned as to whether or not the censoring of cables was being enforced. He admitted, however, that all news regarding the Tutuila affair had been banned from publication domestically.

He asserted, "All outgoing press messages regarding the Tutuila affair, however, have neither been banned nor censored," and added that if there was any hitch in the handling of outgoing press cables, it may have been due to some misunderstanding between the Communications Ministry and the Foreign Office.

Mr. Ishii stated that a "ban on the Tutuila affair was being enforced by the Japanese press until the matter becomes fully clear."—Domei.

"Tutuila Bombing Not Deliberate"; Local Spokesman

That bombs must have fallen close to the U.S.S. Tutuila was admitted by Comdr. Hazama, navy spokesman at yesterday press conference here. But he flatly denied that the alleged bombing was deliberate as stated, he believed, by some U.S. Congressmen.

A report from the naval air squadron which flew over the Tutuila had been received, said Comdr. Hazama, and it stated that photographs clearly showed one bomb exploding 350 metres from the American vessel. He believed that photos had not been taken of all the bombs but said there was little doubt that some had fallen close to the Tutuila. Admiral Glassford had made representations and Admiral Shimada had expressed his regrets to the American admiral.

Told to Take Care

Where the Tutuila was stationed the river was only 300 metres wide and the Japanese planes which were aiming at Chungking military establishments in the vicinity were in mass flight at a great altitude. Only a slight miscalculation may have been responsible for the incident which was entirely accidental, said Comdr. Hazama who spent some time explaining the difficulties of accurate bombing.

Comdr. Hazama mentioned that British planes had dropped bombs on the Danish coast when they were trying to bomb the German coast.

British and Chinese Relations Very Close Says British Ambassador

Chungking, Aug. 1.

The question as to how close is the present collaboration between Britain and China has been the subject of much speculation.

While Chinese and British official quarters persistently decline to comment on the subject there are many indications that though there is no treaty, alliance or agreement signed between the two countries, there is little doubt that a close understanding and collaboration exists.

Presiding at a dinner of the Sino-British Cultural Association on Wednesday, the British Ambassador, Sir Archibald Clark Kerr, declared: "Relations between Britain and China today are very close—in fact, much closer than the public generally knows."

At the same time it is public knowledge that Chinese and British military authorities are maintaining the closest contact with each other concerning Far Eastern developments.

This has been indicated by the tour of a Chinese military mission to India, Singapore and Burma and the visit of several Burmese missions to Chungking. In fact, there is a Burmese mission in Chungking at the present time, studying Chungking's air defence organization.

Nevertheless there are also indications that no treaty, alliance or agreement will be signed between Britain and China concerning joint defence measures in the southern Pacific in the event of an invasion of Thailand, Burma or Malaya.

In a speech before the Sino-British Cultural Association on Wednesday the Chinese Foreign Minister, Dr. Quo Tai-chi, declared: "Ties today between Britain and China are much closer than any treaty, alliance or agreement which, after all, can be torn up."—Reuter.

Japan Moving to Plant Feet in Thailand

London, Aug. 1.

THE situation in the Far East seems to be crystallizing insofar as Thailand is concerned, states Reuter's diplomatic correspondent. Reports reaching London suggest that the Japanese apparently propose to offer the Thailand Government possession of the province of Laos and the ancient city of Angkor in exchange for a virtual monopoly on Thailand's production of rubber, tin and rice, together with the right to use certain naval and air bases.

In other words this would imply an arrangement very like that just concluded with Indo-China although the starting point in this case would not be the fiction of defence from an imaginary aggressor.

News that the Thailand Government has agreed to a financial arrangement with Japanese banks and has officially recognized the Manchoukuoan Government is unlikely to affect larger plans of voracious Japanese imperialists.

Developments have been closely watched both in London and Washington and this will doubtless lead to close collaboration with the Dominions, Netherlands East Indies and China in all appropriate measures dictated by the situation.—Reuter.

Japanese Exerting Pressure

London, Aug. 1.

Reports independently reaching two interested diplomatic quarters but still lacking complete confirmation stated yesterday that Japan has informally suggested to the Bangkok Government that Thailand should agree to accept military cooperation with Japan and enter the East Asia co-prosperity sphere.

In view of reliable indications that the sanctions by the democracies against Japan will continue to allow loopholes for shipments of American and Dutch oil, American and British Indian cotton and several other commodities to Japan, it was doubted here that Japan would go so far into Thailand as to compel the democracies to plug all gaps in the sanctions programme.—United Press.

Thai-Japanese Economic Accord

Tokyo, Aug. 1.

The Ministry of Finance announced at noon that an agreement was reached yesterday between the Thai Banking Syndicate and the Yokohama Specie Bank for the granting of a 10,000,000 baht (approximately Y16,000,000) credit to the Yokohama Specie Bank by the Thai Banking Syndicate.

The credit will be used to facilitate Japanese imports from Thailand, the announcement said.

Meanwhile, informed quarters believe that the credit will serve to revive and maintain normal trade relations between Japan and Thailand which had been interrupted by Britain's freezing of Japanese assets, since the baht is being linked with the pound sterling.—Domei.

Thai Recognizes Manchoukuo

Tokyo, Aug. 1.

The Foreign Office disclosed today that it had received a report from the Japanese Embassy at Changchun that the Thai Government under today's date, had extended de jure recognition to Manchoukuo.—Domei.

"First Step"

Bangkok, Aug. 1.

Informed quarters here predicted that the extension of 10,000,000 baht credit to Japan by the Thai Banking Syndicate will be followed sooner or later by the abandonment of the policy of economic dependence upon Britain in favour of voluntary economic cooperation in East Asia with Japan.

It was pointed out that though the baht is pegged to the pound sterling.

Singapore Said Ready For U.S. Fleet

San Francisco, Aug. 1.

Rear Admiral Herbert Pott of the Royal Navy, attached to the British Embassy at Washington, declared last night that if the United States was involved in war with Japan the United States would be assured of the use of Singapore.

Discussing the Japanese question, Rear Admiral Pott declared "We don't know what they (the Japanese) are going to do. But if America got into a war obviously you could use Singapore as a base."—United Press.

R.A.F. Strength In Burma Greatly Increased

Singapore, Aug. 1.

The Royal Air Force in Burma has been greatly strengthened by recent acquisition of the latest American fighters and now has a chain of modern aerodromes available among the jungles, the R.A.F. officially announced here today.

The R.A.F. units stationed in Burma have acquired the American Brewster multi-gun fighters and therefore are now equipped for both offensive and defence aerial action, the announcement revealed.

The Brewster Buffalo is a favourite of the R.A.F. because of its speed, its powerful armaments and its extremely easy manœuvreability.

Chain of Aerodromes

For the last few months thousands of men and women from the mountains in the Shan states have been constructing in the jungles a chain of aerodromes between the coast and the frontiers of China and Thailand, from Lashio to Mergui, the last of which now has been completed, the official announcement disclosed.

All of the aerodromes are equipped with all-weather runways, which are even suitable for taking off by heavy bombers fully loaded. A plant for the care and maintenance of the aircraft also has been completed in addition to comfortable quarters for crews and mechanics.

Advance Bases

The aerodromes, the official announcement added, are located in such areas as to provide the maximum protection to Burma against air attacks from any quarters and at the same time afford the R.A.F. advance bases from which to hit back with bomber squadrons and also afford greater mobility for the R.A.F. based in the Far East.

"Air Marshal Sir Robert Brooke-Popham, Commander-in-Chief of British Far Eastern Forces, in the event of war spreading to Malaya, will be in position to move squadrons to Burma in a few hours and thus have the forces where they can serve to the best advantage," the announcement said.

Buffalo fighters have been arriving across the Pacific from the United States, increasing the few which reached Malaya last month, thus enabling the R.A.F. fighter squadrons to be speedily strengthened.

Fighter pilots from Spitfire and Hurricane squadrons in England form the nucleus of the Far Eastern fighter squadrons. All of these experienced pilots are unanimous regarding the Brewster Buffalo's amazing qualities, its manoeuvreability and its multiple, large calibre machine-guns.—United Press.

Closer Indo-China Ties With Nanking Seen

Saigon, Aug. 1.

Indications here point to French Indo-China's forming closer ties with the Nanking Government in the near future.

Strong efforts are now being made to wipe out Chungking's anti-Japanese activities and elements, while the publication of Chungking papers is prohibited and a wholesale round-up of Chungking Chinese will probably occur soon.

Contrasting strongly with the attitude shown at the time of the Japanese advance last year, French authorities are now extremely friendly toward Japan.—Domei.

Anglo-Soviet Cooperation in Orient Possible—Koh Ishii

Tokyo, Aug. 1.

BRITAIN'S cooperation with the Soviet Union in the Far East must be considered possible since Britain and the Soviet Union have concluded a military alliance, Mr. Koh Ishii, Deputy Spokesman of the Information Board, told foreign correspondents at today's press conference when questioned regarding the effect of Mr. Anthony Eden's statement that Britain was cooperating with the Soviet Union in the Far East.

Mr. Ishii observed that England was "very friendly" toward the Soviet Union. He refrained, however, form further comment pending receipt of the text of Mr. Eden's statement.

Asked whether or not Russia's cooperation with Britain against Japan would conflict with the Japan-Soviet Neutrality Pact, Mr. Ishii said "That would be a question. Should Soviet Russia cooperate with Britain against Japan?"

Keenly Interested

Further queried regarding the reported cooperation among Britain, the Soviet Union and Chungking against Japan Mr. Ishii replied "We are keenly interested in the question. We must wait and see its result."

Mr. Ishii revealed that Japanese

Domei news agency last night carried reports from Nanking that a Russian-Chinese military conference will be held in early August at Chita in order to discuss joint military operations in the event of a Russo-Japanese war.

Domei said that five Chungking representatives left for Chita on July 25. The report added that Chinese Communist leaders will also participate in the conference.—United Press.

Positive Diplomatic Object

Tokyo, Aug. 1.

The first direct reference to the Soviet Union as the object "of Japan's positive foreign diplomacy" along with Britain and America is contained in a heavily-censored editorial appearing in this morning's pro-Axis newspaper "Hochi."

The journal alleges British, American and N.E.I. attempts to interfere with Japan's southward advance, and says that Japan is prepared for war.

"Our foreign policy," it adds, "is centred on the tripartite alliance and we will take positive diplomacy against Britain, America and the Soviet Union."

The "Hochi" adds: "Our southern advance policy is inseparable from the China affair and the reinforcement of Indo-China is absolutely essential and peaceful. . . We are ready (censored) and closely watching."—Reuter.

No Doubt in London of Suicide Of German General

By Reuter's Special Correspondent

London, Aug. 1.

Is a break in the Nazi front going to come in the Luftwaffe? That is the question which is on many lips in London. Rumours of dissension between Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering, air chief, and Herr Hitler have been too persistent to be ignored and have culminated in a report that the field-marshal has been replaced by 49-year-old Field-Marshal Milch, who has the honour of having trained parachute troops who created such havoc in the invasion of Holland.

The mystery man of the week however is dashing General Ernst Udet who is said to have committed suicide while under arrest by the Gestapo. This news was published in the "Daily Telegraph" in London which claims that its New York office has documentary proof. Last night Berlin denied it.

Obvious Thing

The Nazis did not do the obvious thing of allowing foreign correspondents to see the presumed suicide. Therefore official London not only believes the story but claims that it is all in keeping with the pattern of events which includes the flight of Herr Rudolf Hess to Scotland, the alleged disgrace of Marshal Goering and the developing crisis between Herr Hitler and the General Staff.

Dead or alive, General Udet will always remain one of the most fantastic figures in the motley gallery of personalities thrown up by the Nazis. He was an ace flyer in Baron Mannfried von Richtofen's famous squadron in the last war. One day he found himself in a single combat with the brilliant French ace Guy Nemer. After several bursts of fire the German's machine guns jammed and he thought the end had come. Nemer saw what had happened, he waved his hand and flew away with all the chivalry in the world.

"Flying Clown"

When lean days came to Germany after the last war General Udet became a sort of flying clown. He used to put on a false beard, baggy trousers and a top hat and fly recklessly a few feet from the ground as if it were all an absurd joke. Then he became a flying "stunt merchant" in films and performed some breath-stopping feats in the "White Hell of Pita-Palu."

Brains Behind Luftwaffe

When Herr Hitler came to power Marshal Goering took on the task of building the largest air force in history and General Udet was summoned as his chief assistant. The famous ace was still a young man not yet forty and he possessed amazing gifts of organization.

In fact it was obvious that he was the brains behind the Luftwaffe while Marshal Goering collected medals and filled news reels. In 1937 he visited England where he received a cordial welcome from his old enemies. He paid many compliments to the British Air Force without appearing to be terrified by its size.

His final disgrace and presumably his death came over Russia. He said it was madness to expect the Luftwaffe to fight the Russian Air Force and then the R.A.F. As he proved to be right he was placed under arrest. Germany's bravest airman has paid for his courage in speaking his mind to the great Adolf Hitler.—Reuter.

Toyoda Assures Vichy Japan to Keep Promises

Vichy, Aug. 1.

Admiral Teijiro Toyoda, Japanese Foreign Minister has sent personal telegrams to Marshal Philippe Petain and Admiral Francois Darlan, Vice Premier, through the French Embassy in Tokyo, pledging that Japan will fulfil all engagements made with France and will respect all promises made by her.

The telegrams were sent on the occasion of the signature of the Franco-Japanese pact for "joint defence" of Indo-China.

Admiral Toyoda's message to Marshal Petain expressed sentiments of admiration for the soldier of Verdun and esteem for the Chief of State in attempting a national revolution.

The message to Admiral Darlan contained expressions of respect.

Occupation Proceeding

Meanwhile, despatches from Saigon reported that Japanese occupation of southern Indo-China was proceeding methodically.

The Paris press printed a despatch from Tokyo expressing hope for a modus vivendi with the United States but added "Japan's principal care is to keep her hands free to act in another direction as soon as the situation is favourable."

Continued assertions of the Bangkok government concerning its desire and hope of being able to continue good relations with all neighbours have led the French to believe that Thailand will resist any effort of any foreign Power to impose "collaboration on it.—United Press.

New London Moslem Centre Opened

London, Aug. 1.

Many distinguished Moslems are attending an important ceremony today when the new East London mosque and cultural centre are being opened.

The mosque and cultural centre consist of three houses in the Stepney district of London which have been converted to this special purpose for providing a centre for Moslems in London, including many Moslem seamen who regularly come to London's dockland.

It is intended to fill this need until after the war, when a large Moslem centre will be built in London under the auspices of the British Government.—Reuter.

Sterner Action Against Japan Urged

Singapore, Aug. 1.

The British press today renewed demands for harsher anti-Japanese action, pointing out that Japan was "frightened to death" by the possibility of the Democracies waging their economic war to the fullest extent.

The "Straits Times" said, "Japanese propagandists appear to have read the signs aright when they declared that the Anglo-American blockade announced following the move against Indo-China would prove to be an occurrence of minor importance.

"There is much evidence in the cables of the past few days supporting fears that the economic warfare against Japan is not being conducted with all the vigour with which the Democracies are capable . . . There is obvious restitution and Japan already is intimating her readiness to bargain and is ready to apply her own retaliatory measures proportionately in severity to the anti-Japanese restrictions," the journal added.

"Frightened to Death"

"Japan is frightened to death as to what will happen should the Democracies wage the economic war to the fullest extent.

"Unfortunately, decisions affecting the Far East are left in the hands of people having no knowledge of the psychology of the Far Eastern peoples . . .

"We know that any moderate attitude will only be regarded as a sign of weakness and the signal for a step further in the seizure campaign . . .

"It is quite time we put the horse before the cart for a change. Let us apply this economic blockade with the utmost vigour. Peace much likelier will be preserved in this part of the world by playing a strong hand than by temporizing."—United Press.

★Japan Moving In Thailand

Thai funds in London have been in fact "half frozen" since the outbreak of the European war which prevented the free use of funds located there.

It was impossible to think Thailand could be threatened or cajoled by British interests into throwing over its economic policy toward Japan.

These quarters emphasized the probability that Thailand would find a new basis for trade relations with Japan calling for a settlement independent of the pound.

It was declared that if Britain insisted on exerting pressure on Thailand because of the loan, the latter would cut loose economic bonds with London to set up an independent policy as a member of the East Asia body of nations.—Domei.

The crew of a heavy gun which went into action were machine-gunned and apparently all killed, while Macchi fighters which attempted to intercept were driven off.—Reuter.

Asama Maru Puts In at Honolulu; Eventful Voyage

Honolulu, Aug. 1.

The Asama Maru arrived here yesterday with identification marks on the funnels and flags on the hull painted out. Passengers told how they played amateur navigators for an entire week trying to determine the ship's position while it cruised in the Pacific.

Passengers said that on July 22 the Asama Maru halted in mid-ocean and then began cruising about aimlessly. Passengers were not able to send wireless messages but were able to receive messages until July 23 when they were informed that the radio was out of order.

On July 24, they said, the vessel proceeded due north until they estimated it had reached the 40th parallel on the north circle route where fog was encountered.

Full Speed Toward Japan

On July 26, said passengers, officers posted a notice that the Japanese Government had ordered the ship to return to its home port.

Passengers, without knowledge of world events, speculated on the possibility of war having broken out. The Asama Maru proceeded at full speed toward Japan for about 1,000 miles then suddenly turned about and headed back for Honolulu. Officers then admitted the vessel was heading for Honolulu but would not say when it would arrive.

Passengers said they were not permitted to use their radios. They sneaked into the lounge at night, however, and listened to station K.G.E.I. broadcasting from San Francisco. In that way they learned of the Indo-China situation and the United States freezing of Japanese and Chinese credits.

The use of water was reduced, and showers were not permitted, as the ship conserved its supplies, but there was plenty of drinking water and food, passengers said.

While going toward Japan the ship's crew painted out the flags on the hull and identification marks on the stacks.

Originally, 186 persons were due to land in Honolulu and 170 were due to proceed to the mainland. About one-third of the latter number, however, was preparing to leave the ship here.—United Press.

X.C.D.N. Moonlight Follies

Epitomizing the unquenchable spirit that eventually will carry us on to the ultimate victory that must and shall be won, outlasting the malicious "blitzkrieg" on the part of the weather, the X.C.D.N. Moonlight Follies staged a welcome resumption last night at the Hayim garden. Tantalizing us with that one ephemeral glimpse of its splendour just ten nights ago, a sustained spell of rainy days caused a sickening series of postponements that held up the production but in no way diminished the public interest in it, as was evidenced yesterday when another huge crowd was once again in attendence as the Follies resumed its interrupted sequence with the "Czecholovakian Night."

The scene was, if possible, even more enchanting than on the opening occasion. Once more the illusion was complete as one left the sultry street behind and stepped across the threshold of a new world into a delightful phantasmagoria of glimmering lanterns and contrasting colours. Last night the setting was even more perfect, with the huge artificial moon on Haig Court augmented by the real article that hung in a star-spangled sky, lending a transient beauty to the picture that made it as unforgettable as the magic of the rainbow. Once again the Chinese lanterns covered the trees like pendants, once again the floodlights threw long shafts of radiance on to the rectangle of the dance floor and the music throbbed and there was laughter and gaiety in the shadows.

The Radio Rascals opened the floor show in their usual high spirits and put the large crowd in the most expansive mood with their clever antics, the Masked Singer was in fine voice, Jimmy Ladd sang Madame La Zonga with zest, and Margaret Sinclair pleasantly soothed with Melodies of Yester-Year. The X.C.D.N. Rockettes went through their quick-silver routine with agility and the Brazilian Typhoon brought gale of laughter in "her" wake. And finally Margaret Sinclair ended a delightful entertainment with a beautiful melody.

Once again there were appetizing "snacks" at midnight and the side shows—and the liquid refreshments—did a roaring trade. "Nothing succeeds like success" is an old slogan, but even at the risk of running it to death it can be applied with perfect justification in this case. The Follies went like wild fire last night and however long the show may continue, however many postponements may punctuate its progress, its success is assured. There is no other show to compare with it in Shanghai today and it will be many moons before we get anything like it again, this is an entertainment which can not be missed.—C.E.M.B.

Headquarters of the Japanese Army forces in South China yesterday announced a complete ban on the movement of goods, people, and currency between occupied and unoccupied territories in eastern Kwangtung Province.

The measure applied equally to overseas Chinese travellers from foreign countries, and to travellers by sea as well as land.—Domei.

"A daylight patrol operating yesterday with great skill stalked and captured prisoners of war.

"In the frontier area our artillery engaged and inflicted casualties upon working parties and mechanical transport in the Halfaya area."—Reuter.

Rationing of Steel, Iron in U.S. Predicted

Washington, Aug. 1.

The Office of Production Management today predicted the rationing of iron and steel early in August in order to assure the defence industries of adequate supplies. It estimated that the combined civilian and defence demands will cause a shortage of 10,000,000 tons of steel and 5,000,000 tons of pig iron during the current year.

Pig iron production amounts to about 58,000,000 tons annually, although plans are underway to produce an additional 6,500,000 tons. Steel production this year will total 85,000,000 tons although the O.P.M. will explore the possibility of increasing the total by another 15,000,000 tons.—United Press.

Local Russian Announcer Said Banned by Police

Mr. V. V. Drozdoff, assistant editor of the "Russian Daily News" who is well known to Russian radio listeners here as a broadcaster of Russian war news, especially news items released by the Tass Agency, yesterday informed the "North China Daily News" that he will no longer go on the air over radio station XMHC as he has been informed that his broadcast has been banned by the French Police. The station, which is operated by the "Evening Post and Mercury" at 19 Avenue Edward VII, Mr. Drozdoff stated, had notified him that under the circumstances, his contract with them would have to be cancelled.

Mr. Drozdoff did not go on the air yesterday with his usual Russian news at 7 p.m. He declared that he was completely taken by surprise at the action of the French Police as the news he had announced daily was entirely devoid of propaganda. He emphasized that he had merely transmitted news, principally from Moscow, as he had obtained it.

Other Offers Received

It is believed that he has received numerous letters from radio stations in the Settlement asking him to continue his broadcasts to the Russian community here over their stations.

Russian circles here yesterday declared that the news broadcast by Mr. Drozdoff had been welcomed by local Russian radio listeners as it counteracted news in Russian, interspersed with Nazi propaganda, broadcast by a German radio station here.

Mr. Drozdoff admitted that he had received more than 200 telephone calls from sympathizers here who hoped that he would not desist from continuing his broadcasts of news regarding the war in Soviet Russia.

Free People United In Fight Against Hitler—Wallace

Burlington, Iowa, Aug. 1.

Mr. Henry A. Wallace, Vice-President, yesterday said that the United States, the Allies and conquered peoples of the world were united in a common prayer for peace and for liberation of Axis victims.

In a radio speech during ceremonies dedicating a new ordnance plant here, Mr. Wallace said that "we predict the light is coming sooner than we think. The miserable, helpless victims behind the will of Hitler are beginning to see light.

"England, America, Australia, Canada, South Africa and our friends in Latin America; The Russians and the Chinese battling the aggressor, and countless helpless millions whom the despots rule—all join today in a unified prayer that freedom may come . . . that peace with liberty may be hastened," Mr. Wallace said.

"Prepare for War"

"Men of peace, prepare for war," said Mr. Wallace. "Men of peace in this great factory will peacefully prepare the country-side for war, war which we have tried to prevent but for which we are going to be prepared completely—materially and spiritually.

"The Axis Powers must realize that the true axis is a line linking the hearts of the free people of the world," Mr. Wallace said. "Today that line stretches across the Atlantic to beleaguered Britain, France, Norway, Holland, Belgium and Greece.

"That line," Mr. Wallace said, "stretches across the Pacific to Australia and New Zealand—lands younger than ours but great outposts of freedom. It stretches to the oldest civilization in the world—to China, which is bent on self rule and freedom from aggression."—United Press.

Japan's Concessions in N.E.I. Unaffected

Batavia, Aug. 1.

The oil concessions given Japan for development and exploitation and eventual delivery of oil to Japan will remain unaffected pending the start of the general licensing system, it was learned today.

Authoritative quarters said that economic sanctions by the Netherlands East Indies against Japan will be parallel to the Anglo-American moves.

The issue of special licences, including those for oil, has been shelved for the time being.

Well-informed Dutch sources told the United Press, "We have plenty of time to arrange the licensing and facilitate licensing, especially for oil."—United Press.

Cargo of Tatuta Maru Attached

San Francisco, Aug. 1.

The United States Marshal's office issued writs of attachment against a portion of the cargo carried by the Tatuta Maru, complicating its scheduled departure yesterday.

The N.Y.K., the ship's agents, said that there was no decision whether the sailing of the vessel would be delayed, but the Tatuta Maru may be held until August 5 when the hearing will be held.

The ship could sail by posting a bond double the value of the cargo involved, but because of frozen Japanese assets such a procedure might be most difficult.

The attachments were obtained by five United States firms which demanded delivery of the cargo on the ship consigned to them.

Seattle importers filed three actions against the Heian Maru which was carrying cargo for them. The suit was filed a few hours after the belated arrival of the Japanese liner.—United Press.

Britain's Courtesy and Japan's Lack of It; Thai Opinion

Bangkok, Aug. 1.

Britain's courtesy and considerateness for Thailand is contrasted with the absence of thoughtfulness on Japan's part, in an editorial in the "Supab Burus" which draws attention to the respective procedures adopted by the two powers when moving up their forces towards the Thai border.

The paper says that British authorities have always informed the Thai Government of every military movement near the Thai borders, but that the Government is still without official intimation regarding Japanese troop movements, though a Japanese air base is reported to have been established three miles from the new Thai frontier.—Reuter.

Stalin and the Finns:

Last Year's War Justified?

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—Reviewing the 1939 war between Soviet Russia and Finland in the light of the present developments it must be said now that Stalin's action of pushing somewhat back the Finnish frontier from the very gate of Leningrad, where it was at that time, appears to have been more than justified.

Yet at that time both the Democratic and the Axis powers alike sympathized with the Finns and strongly denounced the Soviet Government and consequently the Russians not only had to withstand the murderous fire from the Mannerheim Line but also had to endure an intense campaign of mud-slinging from all sides in addition.

At that time nobody would have listened to the arguments of the Soviet Government that Leningrad alone with its district has a greater population than the whole of Finland and consequently something had got to be done to safeguard it against possible attack from that side, and also to the argument that a formidable line of fortifications erected by the Finns so closely to Leningrad constituted too great a danger for Soviet Russia particularly in view of the fact that Finland itself is not strong enough to prevent any great power hostile to Russia making use of these fortifications in a war againt Russia.

Now, after this little country of Finland has joined hands with Hitler in his predatory war against Soviet Russia, it became abundantly clear that the Soviet Government was quite right when it decided to try and persuade Finland to make certain adjustments in the state frontiers. It may also be recalled that it did try all peaceful means to attain this aim and it was only after Stalin's patience had been tried too severely by the obstinate Finns that he had to resort to war and consequently the famous Mannerheim Line was smashed by the Red Army. It must also be recalled that after the Finnish resistance had been completely broken Stalin was "generous" enough to offer them some territory in exchange for that small strip of marshes which he reluctantly cut off from poor Finland for the sake of the safety of his own great State. In recognition of the fact that little Finland had to suffer for no fault of her own he was also kind enough not to insist on the Sovietization of Finland and allowed the Finnish Government to carry on, although he knew it was definitely hostile to Soviet Russia. For this mercy on his part he is paying dearly at present, defending Leningrad against the Germans on the Finnish front!

As it happens that the Red Army is fighting now on the side of the "Democratic Powers and her victory would mean the end of Hitler while her failure would spell a disaster for the whole anti-Nazi world, the question arises now will the Finnish people really be better off if they win with the Nazis, and would it not have been better in the long run if the Soviet Government were not so generous at that time?'

By the way, no credit for this act of mercy to his severely punished tiny adversary was given to comrade Stalin—on the contrary this was interpreted by the Democratic press as a sign of weakness on the part of Soviet Russia and the mud-slinging campaign against her continued unabated.

Credit, where credit is due.

R.A.F. Over Germany:

A Significant Accident

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—Encouraging reports come in from time to time, from all sorts of indirect sources, confirming the news which the aviators of the R.A.F. bring back from their trips over the German railroad centres and marshalling yards.

The latest is contained in the report published a short time ago in this paper, concerning a very serious railway accident which occurred on the downgrade of the St. Gotthard line, connecting the north of Europe with Italy.

According to the latest Swiss radio reports, this accident, which caused considerable loss of life and completely blocked the traffic for more than a day, was not caused by sabotage, as was at first feared, but was due to the fact that a number of "foreign" goods cars were attached to the train, which were fitted only with inferior hand-operated brakes and not with the automatic brakes without which, in former years, no goods traffic was admitted over this important mountain railroad link.

It is quite evident therefore that there is a serious shortage of properly equipped goods trucks in the "foreign" country in question, shortage which can be directly ascribed to the destructive action of the bombs which have been so liberally scattered over the main railroad centres of the Reich. This shortage will increase as the visits of the R.A.F. grow more and more frequent and severe and as the overhauling and repairing facilities diminish.

A country without adequate transport facilities is a dead country.

Tram Squeeze:

Appeal to the Public

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—With reference to the letters which have appeared in your correspondence columns with regard to the practice of squeeze indulged in by some Conductors in the employment of this company, I have to state that while the company fully realizes that the responsibility for the proper supervision and control of conductors in the performance of their duty rests with it, and while the company has a large and efficient staff of ticket inspectors comprising Chinese, Korean, Russian and British constantly at work on all routes, it would be greatly appreciated if the company could have the active assistance of all passengers in its efforts to exterminate evil practices. For some time past, a notice has appeared in all tramcars and trolley buses requesting passengers to insist on receiving a ticket of the same value as the fare paid, and if this request were complied with, the problem of squeeze would be well on the way to a complete solution.

Should passengers have difficulties with conductors, it would be appreciated if they would inform the company accordingly, giving the conductor's number and enclosing the ticket.

The company is grateful to passengers who have from time to time submitted complaints in writing. All such complaints are fully and carefully investigated and appropriate disciplinary action taken including dismissal.

It will be apparent that squeeze is equally repugnant to the company and its officials as it is to passengers, and while it may be expecting a lot to hope for its complete elimination, much could be done in our particular problem if passengers would kindly carry out the request of the Company and insist that they get a ticket punched in their presence of the same value as the fare paid. That is all we ask.

Some members of the public may be of opinion that conductors are obliged to squeeze because their wages are too low, but this is not. Good wages and allowances are paid and the company is ready to divulge the figures to any constructive inquirer.

Tokyo, Aug. 1.

Mr. Koh Ishii, Deputy Spokesman of the Information Board, told foreign correspondents at today's press conference that Japan will continue to send ships to the United States, but "only occasionally," and asserted that the question of whether Japanese ships will be sent to the United States in the future will be decided on "case by case."

Mr Ishii said that it was premature to form Japan's attitude regarding the American attitude toward Japanese vessels because only one or two Japanese ships had just arrived in United States ports after the United States freezing of Japanese assets.—Domei.

"Hochi" on "Greatest Insult to Japan"

Tokyo, Aug. 1.

Asserting that the abrogation of the commercial treaties by Britain and the United States was "the greatest insult" to Japan in history, the "Hochi Shimbun," writing under the column "Current Topics," declared that the abrogation was a forthright severance of economic relations with Japan by Britain and America in an attempt to intimidate and "suffocate" Japan economically.

The paper urged that the Japanese people should calmly, prudently and seriously consider what Japan must do to cope with the situation, asserting, "The quicker the decision the better the result."—Domei.

SAVE 50% SUBSTITUTE S-K HESHEEN FOR HESSIAN

- It's reinforced
- It's moisture proof
- It does not rot like gunny bags and therefore
- It affords BETTER PROTECTION.

The rising cost and general shortage of canvas, hessian, timber, and other materials used for packing purposes make the unusual qualities and reasonable price of "S-K" Hesheen of vital importance to manufacturers.

"S-K" Hesheen is ideal for packing all types of products which must be kept moisture proof and provides perfect protection for all goods for export. It takes the place of expensive tin foil and similar material as a lining for kegs, drums, boxes, bales, and crates and can be made into sacks and bags. So tough is "S-K" Hesheen that it can replace to a large extent timber used in boxes and crates by simply nailing it to a wooden framework or as a cover for fibre or cardboard boxes in lieu of timber.

The remarkable strength of "S-K" Hesheen and its resistance to water, humidity, vapour, dust, grease, fungi, and termites is due to its unique 6-ply construction, which consists of two layers of kraft, two inner layers of bitumen, and two crossed layers of sisal fibres, 2,808 lineal feet or 3,000 separate fibres to the square yard.

"S-K" Hesheen is supplied in rolls, flat sheets or made-up bags or containers. Stocks are carried for immediate delivery.

Investigate this ECONOMICAL and SAFE way of packing goods. May we send working sample together with prices and further information?

Indo-China Does Not Desire to Complicate Situation—Decoux

Hanoi, Aug. 1.

In an exclusive statement to Reuter, Vice-Admiral Jean Decoux, Governor-General of Indo-China, declared that Indo-China would continue, as far as possible, to maintain with Hongkong and Singapore, and other parts of the ABCD front, Far Eastern economic relations dictated by her essential needs and geographical position.

Indo-China, Vice-Admiral Decoux said, requires from these countries certain primary necessary supplies which, even now, are obtainable only in insufficient quantities, and with considerable difficulty.

Emphasizing the intention of the Indo-China authorities and population faithfully to carry out the Vichy Government's policy, Vice-Adm. Decoux maintained that Indo-China would do nothing which might complicate the international situation in the Far East.

While declining to answer specific questions concerning the new Franco-Japanese accord which, he maintained, came only within the competence of the Home Government, the Governor declared that Indo-China would execute loyally the recent agreements concluded between France and Japan.—Reuter.

Dies Charges Japanese With Sabotage

Washington, Aug. 1.

Representative Martin Dies, Democrat of Texas, asserted yesterday that investigators of his Committee on Un-American Activities had uncovered sensational evidence of a Japanese plot to sabotage the west coast of the United States.

Rep. Dies said that a former member of a Japanese Consulate had testified that Japanese naval officers were operating from Terminal Island off Los Angeles in co-operation with Japanese fishermen whose craft could be converted easily into torpedo boats.—United Press.

"Japan Will Not Retreat" Says Tokyo Minister

Tokyo, Aug. 1.

Mr. Masatsune Ogura, Finance Minister, declared in an article published by the "Asahi Shimbun" yesterday, that irrespective of how much Great Britain and the United States increase their pressure on Japan, "Japan cannot retreat even one step from her fundamental policy of constructing the Greater East Asia coprosperity sphere.

"We owe it to more than 100,000 soldiers who have died on the continent and more than 20,000,000,000 yen in expenditures since the outbreak of the China Affair to establish the New Order in East Asia and to contribute to world peace," he added.

Further Difficulties

Mr. Ogura said that as long as the United States and Britain remained at loggerheads with Japan concerning the Greater East Asia coprosperity programme, the Japanese must face further difficulties.

He pointed out, however, that success in settling the China Affair was the most vital factor in developing Japan's fortunes and said this would be a short-cut to Far Eastern peace.—United Press.

Soviet Scorched Earth Policy

Moscow, Aug. 1.

A stirring appeal to the people of German-occupied Soviet territory to exterminate Germans has been made according to a despatch to the Soviet official news agency from the front.

The message reads: "Marshal Budenny, Commander-in-Chief of the south-western front, and M. Khrontchov, Secretary of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of the Ukraine, have made the following appeal to the population of German-occupied Soviet territory. "We address ourselves to those who are able to handle arms, goin guerilla detachments, create new lines, annihilate Germans, and exterminate Fascists like mad dogs. Derail their trains, interrupt, blow up dumps so that no single gram of grain is left to the enemy. Mow as much as you need for the near future, and destroy the rest. Destroy plantations of industrial crops, beetroot, flax—the hour of our victory is at hand. Make every effort to fight the enemy and exterminate him."—Reuter.

The Amateur Band gave their sixth performance for the season last night. Though the programme was in part familiar from former performances, it was thoroughly appreciated; and there was a large audience to enjoy the music, the balmy breeze from the river and the refreshing promenade in the silvery moonlight. We understand that an interval of a fortnight will elapse before the next performance, an interval which the Amateurs intend to devote to practise, so that when they next favour us, we may expect a complete change of programme.

IMPARTIAL NOT NEUTRAL

THE TUTUILA AFFAIR

It is unfortunate the U.S.S. Tutuila should have been bombed by Japanese aviators during a raid on Chungking, for, though the Japanese Government has made the usual apologies and offered to pay indemnity, the effect of the incident upon public opinion in the United States is something which may play an important part in deciding the future relationships between the two countries. Bad as those are at present they most certainly have not been improved by this latest incident, which is but another example of how irresponsible men can commit acts likely to embarrass their government. The American gunboat was situated in the so-called safety zone on the south side of the river, and, consequently, well away from Chungking itself. The Japanese have all along prided themselves on the accuracy of their bombing of military objectives, and it will not be surprising if the opinion is held in Washington that this attack on the Tutüila, while possibly not ordered by the Japanese authorities, was deliberate on the part of the men taking part in the air-raid.

The allegation is made that on Wednesday a flight of twenty-six Japanese aeroplanes dropped bombs over the so-called safety zone in Chungking damaging the Tutuila, the Standard-Vacuum installation and a building belonging to a member of the United States Embassy staff. It is fortunate that only superficial damage was done to the Tutuila, though an outboard motor boat was shattered by a bomb falling close to the vessel, for, if there had been any serious damage done to the gunboat, if, like the Panay, it had been sunk with loss of life, it is probable that in the present unhappy atmosphere which prevails it would have been impossible to settle the matter as it now appears to have been done. While members of the U.S. Congress were emphatic in their expressions of anger, the U.S. Government appears to have taken a calm view of the matter, and to have maintained the whole affair in its proper perspective, while insisting upon the vindication of the dignity of the country.

But the Japanese Government will delude itself if it thinks for one moment that the promptness with which it dealt with the matter will wipe out all memory of the incident. There have unhappily during the last four years been far too many such occurrences involving third party neutrals for the matter to be lightly passed over, and the readiness with which the United States has accepted Japanese apologies, and considered the matter closed is no guarantee that other incidents should they occur will be capable of being so quickly and comfortably disposed of. Nor should Tokyo consider that the attitude of the U.S. Government as indicative of any form of weakening on the main issues between the two countries. Rather should it be taken as a complete proof of the strength of the position of the United States. There is no desire on the part of any Government to hurry Japan into a position from which she would be unable to escape without going to war, and the United States in its strength is merely giving Tokyo an opportunity to reconsider its policies, which would not be possible if the Tutuila incident had been regarded in the light of other similar occurrences, and consequently looked upon as a cause for hostilities.

There will undoubtedly be some in Japan who will still hang on to the belief that they can do whatever they like and get away with it. What has happened during the past few days should warn them that that is no longer the case, that the sands of patience are fast running out. It will be no excuse, if there is a repetition of such events, that Tokyo is unable to exercise control over the units of the Japanese Army in China. That may indeed be a fact, but such a plea cannot be accepted from any Government even if it had the hardihood to put it forward. It is to be hoped, therefore, that the Japanese Government will take such steps as will prevent recurrence of such incidents, and that those steps will prove effective. The situation in the Pacific is already serious enough without individuals committing acts which may set the powder barrel alight, and that will inevitably happen if the Japanese continue to fail to recognize the rights of foregin nationals up the Yangtze.

BRITAIN AND FINLAND

Britain's reply to the Finnish aide memoire intimating the suspension of the Finnish Legation's activities in London, which was handed to M. Grippenberg on Thursday afternoon by Sir Alexander Cadogan, Permanent Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, creates an interesting situation. As late as July 22 it was decided to maintain such relations, notwithstanding the fact that Finland was at war with Russia which is an ally of Great Britain, and that German forces were cooperating with the Finnish army. Recently action became necessary against Finnish overseas trade as a result of the foregoing facts which created circumstances in which it was clearly impossible to allow goods to pass through the blockade to reach territory which must be considered as largely under German control, and where it would undoubtedly be of considerable value to the enemy. If Germany fancied that because of the British desire to remain in friendship with the Finns it would be prepared to relax the blockade it was sadly mistaken. There never has been any intention on the part of the British Government to allow the Germans access to the outside world through Finland.

The action taken was not levelled against Finland but against Germany and there is something in the argument that because of that fact normal diplomatic intercourse between the two countries is still not impossible. The next step must be Finland's. If the Finnish Legation is withdrawn from London Great Britain will have no choice but to withdraw from Helsinki. The breach of diplomatic relations, which would follow, would not necessarily mean that Britain would consider herself at war with the Finns. It is unfortunate that Finland either under German coercion, or animated with a perfectly understandable desire for revenge upon Soviet Russia, should find herself aligned with the enemy Great Britain has sworn to destroy. That is particularly true because of the great admiration which Britons have for the Finns and the enormous respect they have for them for the manner in which they defended their country last year.

It may very well be that the British and the Finns will never come into conflict, and that the present developments will only amount to a diplomatic gesture, and not the prelude of hostilities between the two countries. Nevertheless there is the fact to be faced that in order to make certain that Germany shall not benefit by its present arrangement with Finland such steps will have to be maintained which will ensure the effectiveness of the blockade within which Finland has been drawn by her union with Germany. If there is a danger that, by letting supplies through to the Finns, they in their turn, out of their own supplies, can serve the Germans, then it becomes apparent that Finland must be subjected to a total blockade, which in effect will amount to a hostile act against them. That is unfortunate but in the circumstances it cannot be helped. It is indeed a misfortune that two nations which ought to be able to continue in friendship should find themselves on different sides of the present struggle.

That is emphasized by the reluctance of the British Government to agree to the Finnish suggestion for what amounts to a breach of diplomatic relations. How far that was inspired by the Germans will probably not be known until after the war, though there is the grave danger that, now the Finns have permitted entry of German troops into their country, they are undergoing the infamous process of penetration by means of which Hitler has succeeded in subjugating so many other small countries. It may be that friendship between Great Britain and Finland, which the former is loath to see broken, will only be restored after the democracies have released the whole of Europe from the menace of Naziism. In any event there is and can be no hate between the two countries, but only a very real regret that even such a breach as that which Finland contemplates should ever have arisen.

Cautious Optimism

With the Prime Minister's warning against pessimism or optimism in mind, there nevertheless seem to be good reasons to believe that the outlook for the Democracies at the present time is brighter than it has been since the collapse of France threw a pall of gloom over all fighters for freedom. Mr. Churchill emphasized that there was a long and bitter struggle ahead. It is as well to face the future with that prospect in mind. There are many factors which temper the feeling of optimism which has been justifiably inspired by the progress of recent events, such as the increased tension in the Far East, the Nazi infiltration into Iran, and the present state of indecision in the conflict in Soviet Russia. But at the same time there are certain signs which justify the restrained optimism expressed by the Vice-President of the United States, Mr. Henry A. Wallace, in his phrases "the light is coming sooner than we think. Helpless victims behind the wall of Hitler are beginning to see the light." Proof that this is true can be seen in the increasingly open resistance and hostility to the Nazis being displayed in Norway and in Holland. Similar hostility may also be being displayed in other occupied countries, but news of it has not leaked out to the same extent as it has from Norway and Holland. Traces of it can be witnessed in the steady spread of the "V" campaign—the true "V", not the spurious one of the Nazis—even in Vichy territory, where the sign of victory for freedom has actually be scrawled on the walls of Vichy government buildings, the mausolea of "liberty, equality, and fraternity." The German people, deluded by the claims of invincibility made by the Nazi leaders, are beginning to be uncertain, anxious. The campaign in Russia is not going as the High Command would have like it. There is every possibility that the end of the Russian campaign will be like the "successful" invasion of Britain which Hitler promised for August 15 last year—fading further and further into the future until it fades out of sight altogether. When the Germans launched their treacherous attack on Russia, they expected the Soviets to crack from within. Instead, the Nazi attack has done more than anything else during the last twenty years to unify Russians the world over. There is no sign of cracking. The anti-Bolshevik "crusade" so confidently proclaimed by Dr. Joseph Goebbels has turned out to be a gigantic "flop." The world has had to swallow such a large dose of Hitler's medicine that it refuses to believe what the Nazis are trying to tell them—that there is something worse than even Nazism. Wishful thinking is, of course, dangerous; but this fact should never be used as an argument against thinking at all. An impartial review of developments as they appear at present supports that confidence which has all along inspired the lovers of the free way of life, and fortified their belief that eventual victory is certain. It is this confidence that has enabled the free world to bear the horrors and the sacrifices the war has already forced upon them, and will carry it through the horrors which may lie ahead.

More German Admissions

A special "Nichi Nichi" despatch from Sofia reports that German military experts are now of the opinion that operations against the Soviet will require three months instead of the anticipated two, the Ukraine harvest must be abandoned until next year, the Soviet resistance has forced Germany to add 50 divisions to the 400 with which she originally entered upon the invasion, and that although the Luftwaffe has scored overwhelming victories a considerable Soviet air force remains. These opinions fit in very snugly with all the reports which have been coming forward recently. A short while ago it was claimed by a Russian spokesman that the German schedule had been slowed down by 50 per cent. That the German experts now admit. It was stated quite early after the commencement of the invasion that Germany could expect no benefit from this year's harvest in the Ukraine. They could not move fast enough to seize it and the Russians with their scorched earth policy are making sure that Germany will have to wait a year before receiving Ukraine supplies, if she ever does. The fact that Germany has had to raise her invading armies 400 divisions to 450 clearly indicates that the wastage of German strength has been considerable, while the admission that the Soviet still has a considerable air force contrasts strangely with German boasts not so long ago that the Russian air force had been practically wrecked.

ALONG THE HIGHWAYS

July 27.—(Papaver somniferum, continued) When the plants started to flower, watering was recommenced and they were kept constantly moist, but as soon as the capsules were half developed, watering ceased again and the collection of opium commenced. It appears that at sunset each day for four days, all helpers were busy making longitudinal double incisions in each capsule, taking great care not to injure the internal cavity during the progress of the work. The work was carried out at sunset owing to the fact that the night dews favoured the exudation of the juice. Early each morning, all hands would be busy scraping off the juice from the wounds in the capsules and placing it in a pot: this was later worked by hand in bright sunshine until it became thick. The next job was to make cakes of opium about four pounds in weight and dry these under large leaves until they were fit for sale. Even in those days, all men were not honest, for we read that the opium was frequently adulterated by adding an extract of the poppy plant obtained by boiling stems and leaves or by an admixture of cow dung. There are many plants that are commonly called poppies and included amongst these is the Matilija Poppy (Romneya) one of the wild flowers of California where it is a great favourite. California Poppy is the common name of Eschscholzia although Platystemon californicus is often referred to by the same terms. The Welsh Poppy is Meconopsis cambrica, a dwarf-growing plant with most attractive foliage that loves to be planted in a shady corner. Tropical America has given us the Prickly Poppy (Argemone mexicana) while the Plume Poppy (Bocconia cordata) is a native of China. This plant, with its glaucous fig-like leaves, is often seen in local gardens: It is a stately perenniel and small cream-coloured flowers are produced in abundance during the Summer on large spikes that look like plumes from a distance. The plants should be grown in a bed by themselves for they are quite attractive after they have finished flowering, their flat seed pods have a graceful appearance when moved by a gentle breeze.—W.J.K.

A PARSON'S LOG

From A Correspondent

A criticism commonly levelled at the teaching of Jesus is that it is magnificent but impracticable, a beautiful dream which can never come true in such a world as ours. If the criticism means that the demands of Jesus are of such a kind that no Parliament would enact them and no police force could enforce them, it is unquestionably correct; but I don't think Jesus ever contemplated such a consummation. Or again, it is said that while the teaching may have been all very well for simple first-century Palestine, it is inadequate to our complex civilization. To which one may reply that the supposed greater complexity of modern life is largely a myth. Human nature is much the same in all ages. Greater ease and rapidity of communication in the twentieth century have made more obvious the complexity that has been there all the time. What Jesus had to say about such questions as marriage and divorce for example has to do with realities that are not touched by the fact that a first century Jewish husband could divorce his wife by writing out a document that would go comfortably on a half sheet of notepaper, while a modern husband must go through a long, complicated, and expensive legal process.

The fact is that the teaching of Jesus is difficult and unaccommodating, and this is why people criticize it; it runs counter to those elements in human nature which the twentieth century has in common with the first—such things as laziness, greed, jealousy, the love of pleasure, the instinct to hit back, and the like. Jesus was well aware of this and recognized that here and nowhere else lay the obstacle that had to be surmounted. The question is how? Here we are helped when we view the teaching as a whole and refrain from selecting peculiar passages and stumble over them.

Jesus was not concerned with an academic analysis of conduct into intention, motive, act and so on. He was concerned with the whole character which expresses itself in life and action. It is acts that reveal persons—not the enunciation of a set of rules of conduct.

Jesus was not a mere theorist in theology and ethics. He embodied His teaching in Himself. In the Gospels the life illuminates the teaching and the teaching the life; they were all of apiece. This means that the teaching has to do not with intentions and motives, not with mere acts, but with the fundamental relation of man's will to God's. Repentance is not a striving to bring one's conduct into line with the Jewish Law or with the higher righteousness demanded by Jesus. Neither is it a painful scrutiny of one's motives with a view to substituting, let us say, unselfish for selfish motives. It is a surrender of the whole personality to God, a submission of the will to His will, the acceptance of His sovereignty. Now it is by this act of surrender and submission that the Kingdom of God is entered, and it is this decisive change that is presupposed in the teaching of Jesus. The message of Jesus has to do not with the rightness or wrongness of intentions, motives and actions, but with the striving to live a good life. This necessitates the identification of the human will with the will of God so that one's life becomes part and parcel of the purpose of God in the world. Such life is as difficult and arduous as the composition of a Beethoven symphony is difficult, even for a Beethoven, yet, and this is the vital point, it is as spontaneous and inevitable. We cannot legislate in advance for such a life; it creates its own rules in the light of increasing knowledge and of the unfolding purpose of God. Such life is inspired, creative, adventurous. It is a movement towards a goal; and for the purposes of that pilgrimage the teaching of Jesus is a compass, not an ordnance map. He who grasps it in its wholeness and simplicity is sure of his direction; he will pick his own steps. The object of the teaching is to give direction rather than directions, to point to the goal of all good living rather than to legislate for particular cases. The important thing is not whether a man falls short of the goal, but whether his direction is correct. The object of the teaching of Jesus was so to guide His followers that their lives would fit into the great purpose of God. Jesus taught: Live so that your will may be in perfect harmony with the purpose of God. That is the purport of 'Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven,' or 'Be ye merciful, even as your Father is merciful.' It means: live so that your life is a fulfilment, in part at least, of God's purpose. Difficult? Yes, but inspiriting, constructive, and full of glorious adventure. "May the Lord direct your hearts towards God's love." It is the direction that matters.

In Censored Style

AUTHORITIES revealed today that the Cinnburgh Cubs and the Deyork Dodgers engaged in a critical baseball combat on June——, at an unnamed park somewhere on the outskirts of the city.

According to usually reliable sources, "Red" Wilson and Jim Smith were the starting pitchers. High Official circles in Deyork announced that the Dodgers were victorious by a score of 5 to 4. A dispatch from Cinnburgh, however, claimed the Cubs to be the winners, 6 to 3. Deyork news agencies reported that the feature of the game was a home run with the bases loaded by their slugging first baseman, "Hank" Ottwick. This devastating blow, coming in in the ninth inning with the score tied at 1-1, was alleged to have turned the tide of battle in the Dodgers' favour. Cinnburgh correspondents flatly denied this report, claiming that Ottwick's high fly was caught near the flagpole in centrefield by the sensational rookie Ted McTroskey.

An umpire, whose identity remains unrevealed, issued what some observers believe to be an authentic report, but his statements were censored so closely as to be of little value. Informed circles believed, however, that the Cubs may have strengthened their position in the league standings by this recent offensive.

"Brenda's gone mad about the food called plankton."

"Whatever's that, darling?"

"It's stuff that hangs about in the sea and causes a phosphorescent glow or some thing."

"But you can't eat a phosphorescent glow, darling."

"Well, this is made up of a lot of little organisms or something, and whales and herrings eat it, and it tastes like shrimp paste."

"If it's that stuff that hangs about the sea at places like Margate I refuse to eat it whatever it tastes like."

"Waiting for America to come in is rather like waiting for the all clear."

"My husband says the Government treat American newspaper correspondents in London like enemy aliens."

"They probably treat enemy aliens better."

"Brenda asked the police for a pass to a seaside town. When they said have you any relatives there she said no, but she wanted to get some plankton. Of course they thought she was mad."

"Margaret's father gets plastered twice a day now."

"Some of the astrologers still think it's going to be over soon."

"But who do they think's going to win?"

"Oh, us."

"My husband says that people who write to the papers against bombing Germany are in the pay of the Gestapo."

"Brenda thinks that if we can get enough plankton we shan't need any food from America."

"But we can't live on shrimp paste for the duration, darling."

"Does she think this is a continuation of the last war?"

"If she does she's probably right."

"Brenda thinks plankton is the answer to the blockade."

"If there's anything in plankton some middleman will get hold of it first."

"Then somebody will stick it in a can, tell us it's full of vitamins and sell it at ten shilling a round."—Exchange.

New York Yanks Stretch Lead To Twelve Games With Double Victory Over Detroit Tigers

New York, July 31.

THE New York Yankees tonight held a 12 game lead after turning back the Detroit Tigers twice today. The first half of the double bill went 13 innings while the second, a shutout, was halted by darkness in the eighth. Joe McCarthy's charges led until the ninth in the opener when the Tigers knotted the score at 3-all. After three scoreless innings the Yanks came through with a mighty three run rally in the thirteenth.

New York found less competition in the night cap, winning by a 5 to 0 score as Spurgeon Chandler turned back the Tigers with four hits. Detroit helped boost the Yanks' score by making three errors.

The wildest game in the American circuit was at Boston where the St. Louis Browns downed the Red Sox 16 to 11. Both clubs recorded 14 safe hits and also turned in errorless ball.

The Browns piled up a four run lead in the first inning but the Bostonians by the seventh inning had passed them up. The ninth opened with the St. Louis club trailing by five runs and that last inning rally netted six scores. St. Louis used four hurlers while five pitchers saw service for the Red Sox.

Boston Get Revenge

Boston avenged the defeat by taking the second half of the double bill by a 4 to 1 score. The game was halted in the eighth by darkness, since the opener consumed most of the afternoon.

Cecil Houghson, a Rookie from Louisville, turned the Browns back with six hits and hurled shutout ball until the last inning.

Connie Mack treated Philadelphia fans to a 9 to 2 victory over the Chicago White Sox as his club climbed into fourth place. The Athletics led throughout, collecting three scores in the first inning, one in the third and five in the fourth. Two Chicago White Sox hurlers were nicked for 14 hits while Jack Knott, who went the full route for the As, allowed nine scattered safeties.

Dodgers Even Series

Brooklyn's Dodgers evened their series with the Cardinals by pushing over a 9 to 5 win and cutting the St. Louis club's lead to two games.

Brooklyn bunched its runs with three in the second frame, four in the fourth and two more in the seventh. Four St. Louis hurlers were nicked for 15 hits.

The Cincinnati Reds turned back the New York Giants again, registering a 6 to 5 win despite erratic fielding. The Reds were trailing by one run in the last of the ninth when they pushed over a pair of scores to break up the ball game.

Pirates Win Slugfest

Frankie Frisch's Pittsburgh Pirates took a 9 to 8 slugfest from the Boston Braves. Six hurlers saw duty and the Pirates collected 16 hits while the Braves were registering a dozen safe blows.

The Pirates piled up an early lead and were ahead 9 to 1 when the eighth inning opened. Boston came through with five scores in the eighth and two more in the ninth but still fell one short of knotting the count.

The lowly Philadelphia Phillies recorded their twenty fifth victory of the season when they downed the Chicago Cubs 7 to 2. John Podajny was on the mound for the Phillies and turned the Cubs back with a half dozen hits. Three Chicago hurlers were nicked for 13 safeties, with most of the hits and runs being accounted for in the first two innings.

Lawn Bowls League Leaders In Principal Clash Today

A TITANIC battle will be waged this afternoon when the Clube Lusitano "Reds" and the Hongkew Golf Club clash in what should be the principal fixture of the seven-game schedule of the Association Lawn Bowls League. It is quite easy to understand why interest will be focused on this tussle as it will be the meeting of the two leading teams in the present league standings. Clube Lusitano are now heading the series with a splendid average of .900 per cent. which they earned through the remarkable achievement of winning 18 rink matches out of a possible 20. The Honkgew Golf Club, in the meantime, are enjoying one of their most successful seasons and are now placed second.

Meanwhile, the first division programme promises to be full of action as besides the Clube Lusitano-Hongkew Golf Club clash, another spirited encounter may be expected at the greens of the Yangtszepoo Bowling Club where the home team will tackle the league title defenders, the Shanghai Recreation Club. The remainng two matches will see the Shanghai Junior Golf Club pitted against the Police Recreation Club while in the fourth encounter the "Blue" aggregation of the Shanghai Lawn Bowls Club will be matching their prowess against that of the Clube Lusitano "Greens".

Possibility of Upset

Though the Clube Lusitano "Reds" are generally conceded an edge over the Hongkew Golfers, lawn bowls experts are reluctant to discard the probabilities of an upset. The former have struck a remarkable pitch of form and have literally mowed down their opponents in the four matches they have already played. Among their victims were such formidable aggregations as the S.L.B.C. "Reds" and the Yangtszepoo Bowling Club. Others who crumpled under the weight of their superiority were the Police Recreation Club and the Junior Golfers.

Though the record of the Hongkew Golfers is not as brilliant as that of their opponents, they did well to garner a total of 16 rink matches out of 25. They did not get off to as a good as start as the Lusitano "Reds", having lost their first match to the Yangtszepoo bowlers. But since they blazed a trail for a strong recovery, so much so that they are now second in the league race and are considered the most likely team to displace the Lusitano from the leading berth if it is to be done.

Out to Make Amends

When the Shanghai Recreation Club take the greens against the Yangtszepoo Club, tomorrow it will be with the determination of making up for their previous defeats in order to recover lost ground. At the moment all indications point to their three-year reign as league champions coming to an end. Unless they score decisive wins it is doubtful that they will be able at the head of the standings again this summer. The Yangtszepoo bowlers on the other hand, are a consistant lot and can always be relied upon to give the opposition a good fight. Their consistency may be gauged, by the fact that they are now ranked third in the standings, with an average of .600 per cent.

The Shanghai Lawn Bowls Club "Blues" are not expected to encounter much difficulty in disposing of the Clube Lusitano "Greens" when the representatives of the Club clash tomorrow.

Cellarites Not Favoured

The tussle between the Junior Golf Club and the Police Recreation Club may not rise to any great heights but a close game may be seen. On the form displayed by both teams this summer, the former should be able to account for the weak Police aggregation.

In the meantime, the present leaders in the second division, the S.L.B.C. have drawn a bye this week and will consequently not be seen in action. The Hongkew Golf Club should emerge victorious over the Clube Lusitano second leaguers in their clash on their own greens, while the Yangtszepoo Bowling Club are not expected to be extended by the Recs. The third match will see the Barbarians Bowling Club pitted against the Country Club.

The complete schedule for tomorrow is as follows:—

Shanghai Junior Golf Club v. Police Recreation Club.

Clube Lusitano "Reds" v. Honkew Golf Club.

Yangtszepoo Bowling Club v. Shanghai Recreation Club.

Shanghai Lawn Bowls Club "Blues" v. Clube Lusitano "Greens."

In Softball's Battle of the Amazons Today

What promises to be one of the most crucial matches in the Ladies' Softball League will be taking place at the Race Course this afternoon when the reigning champions, the A.S.P. girls, will be clashing with the Erin Villa team, their main challengers. Though the Villa girls have been defeated once, they are still a threat to the Portuguese squad. The team which will be out to preserve their unbroken string of victories today are seen above, left to right:—(back row) Noemi Machado, "Kiddo" Oliveira, Margaret Oliveira, Nadia Canavarro, Frances Caldas, Thelma Collaco; (front row) Verna Remedios, "Jiggy" Pereira, Marie Canavarro, Marie Augusta da Silva.

Jimmy Ward Retains Slender Lead in Batting Race; Three Players Tied in Second Place

DESPITE the fact that Jimmy Ward, ace second sacker of the Shanghai Amateurs, could do no better than get two hits in six trips to the plate in the game between the Amateurs and First Battalion last Wednesday, he is still leading the league in batting, being but .024 percent. ahead of three others, Bill Lamneck, Mann and Bozo Duncan.

In the number of hits got, Ward and Mann are both in the lead as each of these two players have 11 safeties credited to them. Kabbert and Taylor have crossed the plate more than any of the other players in the league with 7 runs, while Bill Lamneck leads in the number of two-baggers, having two to his credit.

Waddell and Miller are still the only two players who have any homers chalked up in their favour while nine players have each hit three-baggers. Mann leads the base runners with five stolen bases to his credit and Mann and Duncan, both of the Second Battalion, have each brought in six runs.

The individual batting averages follow:

Orphans Play Second Battalion Today and Amateurs Tomorrow

THE Headquarters Orphans are scheduled to play two games this weekend as they are slated to tangle with the Second Battalion today, and are to play against the League-leading Shanghai Amateurs tomorrow. Both encounters are set to take place at the Race Course diamond beginning at 3.45 p.m.

The game today should be close, with the Second Battalion having a slight edge over their opponents as the Orphans will not be able to use Swanson, their ace hurler, who will most probably be saved for the game against the Amateurs.

The Second Battalion will most probably start either Pack or Fitch against the Headquarters aggregation and either one of these two pitchers can be depended upon to give the Orphans batters who face them a tough time to solve their deliveries.

Batting Lead at Stake

The batting championship of the league is at stake and at the conclusion of these two games, some changes in the present standings published today can be anticipated. Ward is at present at the head of the batting averages by a bare .024 percentage and if he fails against Swanson, he should drop from first place to about fifth.

In the game tomorrow, the Shanghai Amateurs should have little difficulty in trimming the Headquarters Orphans as they have already two wins chalked up against Swanson due to the hitting of the civilian batters who have been abled to connect for bingles when hits mean runs.

Suffering From Lay-off

Joe Honeycutt, ace hurler of the Shanghai Amateurs, has already had five wins chalked up in his favour without a single loss against him and he should have little difficulty in holding down the batters of the Orphans. Honeycutt, in the encounter against the First Battalion, showed that he had plenty of stuff on the ball as he fanned fifteen batters despite the fact that he was not in form. He seemed to be a little wild from the long lay-off due to the heavy downpour during the past two weeks.

At the time of writing, the Shanghai Amateurs are at the head of the standings having won all five of the games that they have played, while the Second Battalion are in second place with three wins and two defeats. The Headquarters Orphans are third having won two and lost two games.

The tentative lineups of the three teams participating in this weekend's clashes are as follows:

Amateurs

Honeycutt, p; Allen, c; Fielden, 1b; J. Ward, 2b; Krause, 3b; Lamneck, ss; W. Ward, lf; DeBecker, of;; Biesel, of.

Second Battalion

Pack or Fitch, p; Mertes, c; Waddell, 1b; Rundle, 2b; Brannon, 3b; Mann, ss; Zagar, lf; Taylor, cf; Duncan, rf.

Headquarters

Swanson, p; Provencher, c; Ruge, 1b; Middleton, 2b; McKinzie, 3b; Miller, ss; Hicks, lf; Terrell, cg; Silk rf.

Kittenball Leaders To Clash Today

With the A.S.P. "A"—Erin Villa clash heading the list of fixtures, the schedule for the next six days will be abounding in interest. Though twice postponed the spirit of competition between the two rival teams and the partisan followers of local ladies softball continues to be as keen as ever. The city baseball diamond has again been picked as the venue of battle and the game will be played today after the baseball game is over at about 5.45 p.m.

The next important day on the programme is Tuesday when six "A" division aggregations will be seen in action. None of the three matches, however, appear to be interesting as with three teams ranking in the upper section clashing with three in the lower half, there is little hope of close results being seen.

Victory Assured

A decidedly one-sided encounter will be seen when the A.S.P. "A" clashes with the Race Clubbers. The latter were defeated by the weak Mollers Ltd in their last engagement and on the strength of this it is very difficult indeed to see them give the defending league champions even a good fight.

The third clash on Tuesday will see the Texaco ladies being pitted against the A.S.P. "B". Taking this season's performances as a criterion and their recent triumph over Erin Villa, a victory for the Texaco squad is a foregone conclusion.

Principal Attraction

Meanwhile, the principal attraction tomorrow, the day on which the junior leaguers go into action, will be the "A" division engagement between the Mollers Ltd. and the Foreign "Y" Reds. Though the former team has made remarkable improvement recently, having scored their first victory by reversing the tables on the Race Clubbers in their last clash, they are still no match for the "Y" Reds, who now rank third in the league standings.

The complete schedule is as follows:—

Race Club Beaten In Softball Tilt

One of the biggest upsets of the Shanghai Softball League was seen yesterday afternoon when the Chamber of Commerce walloped the Race Club by the count of 7-4. Taking full advantage of the Race Club's poor form, the winners slammed the ball time after time when points were most needed. The match failed to rise to any great heights, and was in fact, rather disappointing as the Race Club, who, until yesterday held a clean record of five wins in five games, were apparently quite off colour; over-throwing and making errors in base-running.

Meanwhile, the other two "A" division tussles came out as predicted. The Columbia Country Club succeeded in subduing the Texaco squad 3-1 after a hard game. The Buccaneers did not encounter much difficulty in disposing of the cellarites, the boys of the Saint Francis Xavier College, in their clash, held at the Race Course, by the one-sided score of 12-4.

Race Club Failure

The Race Club were never seen to such poor advantage as yesterday. Nothing they did seemed to be right. While fielding they were continually overthrowing the ball, while at bat they failed to hit the ball with their usual consistency.

The Chamber of Commerce, on the other hand, with Mike Hazzard in the pitcher's box, played one of their finest games of the season. Particularly good was their hitting.

A much closer tussle than was generally expected was seen at the grounds of the Columbia Country Club when the home team found strong opposition in the Texaco squad, but nevertheless triumphed by the score of 3-1. Both sides were playing a fine brand of ball which, combined with good pitching and tight fielding, made the game fairly exciting.

The detailed scores were:—

C.C.C.	0 0 0 0 0 3 0 — 3
Texaco	0 0 0 0 0 0 1 — 1
Race Club	1 1 0 1 0 1 0 — 4
C. of C.	2 0 0 1 0 4 0 — 7
Buccaneers	1 1 0 2 0 2 0 — 12

King Enters Horses in Both Autumn Handicaps

Newmarket, Aug. 1.

The King, who had nine turf wins this season, has failed to continue this sequence in the 1½ mile Craven Handicap in which his Longships, who won at Worcester last month, was unplaced. Royalist winning.

The King has entered horses in both Autumn handicaps. Longships for the Cesarewitch Stakes and Merry Wanderer for the Cambridgeshire Stakes. The latter is notable for the large number of first-class three-year olds, among them being Morogoro who came second in the Derby and won the 2,000 Guineas.

Dancing Time, who won the 1,000 Guineas, is entered for the Cesarewitch Stakes, Gloaming, the four-year old, which opened the season's big race wins with a Lincolnshire victory, is entered for the Cambridgeshire Stakes, weights for which will be published on September 18 and those for the Cesarewitch on October 2.

Sixty-five entries have been received for both the Cambridgeshire, running over a mile on October 8, and the Cesarewitch, over 2 miles on October 22, both at Newmarket. —Reuter.

Buying Power of Local Dollar Again Reduced, Report Shows

THE purchasing power of the local dollar was reduced by 61.02 per cent. in July against 60.49 in June for foreign salaried employees and declined more than haif a cent from 13.19 in June to 12.50 cents in July for Chinese workers here, according to the monthly indices of the cost of living issued by the Industrial and Social Division of the S.M.C. yesterday for July.

In the case of foreigners the report stated among other things:"Rising from 253.10 in June to 256.53 in July, the consolidated index of cost of living of foreign salaried employees in this city registered a slight increase of 3.43 points or 1.36 per cent. The purchasing power of the dollar was reduced by 61.02 per cent. in July as against 60.49 in June. Due to lowering of vegetable prices at this season of the year, the food index for all nationalities declined 0.87 per cent. Similar falls were shown during June and July last year. Rises in the other group indices ranged from 0.39 per cent. for clothing to 9.48 per cent. for miscellaneous items. The Russian index remained almost stationary, while the other general indices recorded rises of from 2 to less than 3 per cent.

Water, Trams and Buses

"In the Settlement, surcharges on water rates were raised from 110 to 250 per cent. on July 1; those for electric light, to 230.97 per cent. and power, 350.22 per cent. Bus and tram fares were also increased over 60 per cent. effective from July 14.

"The rent investigation conducted in July revealed that very little change took place during the April-June quarter. On the average, rents for single rooms, apartments, terrace, and detached houses were raised by 6.04, 3.12, 1.17 and 1.63 per cent. respectively. Wages for servants showed considerable increases. Average pay in July for a cook was $68.27; for a boy, $65.38; and an amah, $46.22; showing rises of 10.70, 19.59 and 20.21 per cent. over April last.

"Exchange rate of the Chinese national dollar in terms of U.S. currency weakened on July 9 but improved prior to the "freezing" of the Sino-Japanese assets in the United States on July 26. The exchange value of the Chinese dollar again weakened upon the announcement of the "freezing" decree. There was a rise in the commodity markets toward the close of the month."

Chinese Living Costs

Regarding the living costs of Chinese workers the report stated inter alia: "Owing to heavy increases in cost at sources of supply, combined with increased rates of freight, price of S.M.C. rice advanced from $110 to $116 per shih as from July 8. Developments in the Far Eastern situation and the fall in exchange rates since July 9 gave rise to increases, not only to imported but also to native rice. As a result of over supply of stock and forthcoming shipments, the prices later followed a downward trend. S.M.C. rice was offered at prices below the official limit of $116.

"Following the announcement of the freezing of Sino-Japanese credits in the United States on July 26, prices of rice as well as flour, oils, beans, sugar, coal, kerosene, cigarettes, soap, matches, etc., underwent another rise.

"The second semi-annual investigation of rent for 1941 showed that in 52.46 per cent. of the locations checked, rentals have increased since January last. The increase for rooms of one-story house averaged 5.05 per cent.; that of two-storey house without courtyard, 8 per cent.; and of two-story house with courtyard, 12.02 per cent."

Profiteers Boost Prices Following Latest Tension

An official of the Shanghai Municipal Council's price investigation office yesterday admitted that undue advantage had been taken by profiteers here to boost prices of essential and other commodities owing to recent political developments. Although he could not state off-hand to what extent this has been done, he was under the impression that the tension had produced all sorts of rumours with the usual and consequential increase in prices of goods. It would be futile to attempt to produce definite proofs, however, he pointed out.

There has not been much change in the prices of domestic products, he went on to say, while certain imported goods had gone up considerably. He had been given to understand the reason to be that they would be difficult to replace at present prices owing to the political situation. Whether the explanation was bona fide or an attempt to hold out for higher prices he could not state.

That there would be some kind of a shortage of imported goods was unquestionable, he added, especially in the case of British products owing to the lack of shipping facilities. The increases in the past week have been more pronounced in the case of luxury articles, which he thought was not a matter of much concern to the masses.

The Rice Problem

Questioned about the increase in rice prices following on the heels of the latest development in the political situation here the official emphasized that the public had themselves entirely to blame by persisting in the purchase of rice other than that imported by the S.M.C. which was selling for $116 per zah or the broken Saigon rice imported by the French Municipal Council which was selling for $89 per zah. Many Chinese he said, had claimed that the rice they were purchasing from other sources was more palatable. If the necessity arose for rigid economy like in the present, the official thought, people should buy the best they could obtain at the lowest prices.

Domestic Products

To support his contention that there had been little or no change in the past week in the prices of domestic products he quoted the price of beef which was selling for $3.60 per pound for rib, soup meat from $2 to $2.20 per pound, lamb chop $1.50 to $1.60 per pound; the prices being the same as a week ago. Pork prices had seen a slight advance but he went on to quote innumberable instances where there had been no change in prices.

The prices of coal and kerosene had gone up, he said, but the advances had not been considerable, while butter had also gone up from 30 to 50 cents per pound. Margarine and soap had also advanced a little in price but coffee prices remained the same while the price of imported sugar had been increased from 5 to 25 cents per pound especially in the French Concession. Netherlands sugar had advanced from seven to thirteen cents per pound.

Price Control only Solution

Another authoritative source said he believed that many of the larger emporiums had a private understanding to increase the prices of everything at certain specified and stated periods and specially in times of stress. The flimsiest of pretexts was the tactic once resorted to by the establishments to raise prices, but today he declared they could with impunity raise prices at random on the simple expedient of stressing the difficulties of replacement or replacement cost. The explanation had been good enough for the Council, so there was no reason why any particular member of the public should not accept it.

The only solution to the high cost of living question he declared was price control, not price investigation which has been resorted to by the Council. Whatever the technical or legal difficulties were, he said, it was the business of the authorities to remove them.

Six Chinese Injured In Factory Fire

Six Chinese were injured and six houses were badly damaged early yesterday morning when flames broke out at the Yung Kee Underwear Weaving Factory in Lane 246 Thibet Road. Two of the Chinese, one of them a woman, were taken to the Shanghai Sanitarium Clinic in an S.F.B. emergency ambulance, while four other men presented themselves at the Shanghai Refugee Relief Association Hospital in Thibet Road, where they were given first aid. Their injuries were not of a serious nature.

The fire broke out at the underwear factory, occupying houses 23 and 25 in the lane, at 12.30 a.m. and spread quickly to adjoining Chinese dwellings in Haining Road. Machines from Sinza fire station, under Station Officer M. M. Loutit, were sent to the scene of the fire.

The flames were brought under control within an hour, but it was not until almost 5 a.m. that the fire was completely extinguished. The female victim sustained laceration of the back in making her escape from the burning building.

"La Revue Nationale Chinoise"

Scientific interest in things Chinese is the keynote of this month's issue of "La Revue National Chinoise." Ancestor tablets are dealt with in a study by P. L. Waong; an unamed Chengtu missionary speaks of his impressions on reading Creel's famous book "The Birth of China"; the permanent column "Perusing Chinese Books..." features most delightful modern Chinese poems in a French translation, together with a short survey of up-to-date Chinese poetry.

Information on Indo-China includes details of new regulations concerning economic and financial affairs, as well as a profusely illustrated article on the carpet manufactory of Hong Kenh. A political survey of recent developments in the Far East, a well illustrated article on the 650th Anniversary of the creation of the Swiss Confederation, the National Day of this valiant and charitable country, complete a well-balanced issue.

B.R.A. Supporting "V" Movement

At the meeting of the General Committee held on July 29, amongst other matters considered was the "V" movement, and it was decided to offer whole-hearted support of the Association to further the movement in the Far East within all reasonable limits.

Attention was drawn to the length of time it takes under the changed regulations to secure American visas, such as would be required by British nationals intending to travel to Canada via U.S. ports, and it was decided to enquire through suitable channels whether some revision of procedure might be considered, whereby British nationals wishing to travel to Canada via U.S. could be enabled to obtain the necessary visas in the shortest possible space of time.

Donation Acknowledged

The Committee recorded with much appreciation a donation of $5,000 from the Tanah Merah Estates Ltd. to the general funds of the Association.

Letters have been received from a member concerning "squeeze" on motor omnibuses in the Settlement. The Committee, after taking the matter up with the China General Omnibus Co., Ltd., is of opinion that, whilst the company is doing everything possible, the full co-operation of the travelling public is essential if the evil is to be eradicated and that this can best be done by all passengers insisting on receiving new, unused tickets for the correct fares for the distances to be travelled.

First Church of Christ, Scientist

"Love" is the subject of the Lesson Sermon to be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world tomorrow. Golden Text:—Zeph. 3:17. "The Lord thy God in the midst of thee is mighty; he will save, he will rejoice over thee with joy; he will rest in his love, he will joy over thee with singing." Among the citations which comprise the Lessons Sermon is the following from the Bible:—"Trust in the Lord, and do good; so shalt thou dwell in the land, and verily thou shalt be fed....The Lord knoweth the days of the upright: and their inheritance shall be forever. They shall not be ashamed in the evil time; and in the days of famine they shall be satisfied." (Ps. 37)

"And God is able to make all grace abound toward you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things may abound to every good work:... Being enriched in every thing to all bountifulness, which causeth through us thanksgiving to God." (11 Cor.

The Lesson Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:—"Divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need.....In Christian Science, man is sustained by God, the divine Principle of being. The earth, at God's command, brings forth food for man's use. Knowing this, Jesus once said, 'Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink,'—presuming not on the prerogative of his creator, but recognizing God, the Father and Mother of all, as able to feed and clothe man as He doth the lilies." (pages 494, 530).

R.A.F.A. Presentation to Sir Victor Sassoon

A touching ceremony was held yesterday at the weekly meeting of the R.A.F.A. in the Dome, when Sir Victor Sassoon, past president who soon is leaving for a trip to India, was presented with a silver tankard, emblem of the association.

Mr. V. J. B. Holland, President, in handing Sir Victor the memento, pointed out that the gift was a token of the esteem in which the membership held the recipient. In a way it could be considered an expression of gratitude by the organization for the work which Sir Victor had done on its behalf. Sir Victor, he added, had the three characteristics, which so few possessed—to inspire the love of his fellows, attain popularity and command the respect of all.

Inscribed on the tankard was:

"Presented by members of the R.A.F.A. to Sir Victor Sassoon, Bart, President R.A.F.A., 1939-1941."

Sir Victor replied Suitably

Enamelled victory "V" badges donated by the guest of honour, a St. Andrew's Cross, with a black "V" in the centre, were distributed and a considerable sum for the War Fund was realized. Similar brooches for ladies also were well received.

Coolie Stabs Woman, Commits Suicide

Angered by the faithlessness of his alleged mistress, Keu Zao-tseu, 39-year old unemployed coolie, seriously wounded Mrs. Tseu Nyoh-ying, by stabbing her several times in the throat at 130/10 Rue Marco Polo at 6.30 a.m. yesterday. The victim was in bed when the infuriated man attacked her. Keu then committed suicide by cutting his throat.

The French police, investigating the affair, found a letter, written by Keu, in which he stated that he had made up his mind to kill the woman for leaving him for another man.

The woman arrived in Shanghai with her husband about four years ago. Later she forced her husband to return to his native town, while she herself remained here.

The victim met Keu in a Chinese lodging house where he worked as a coolie and the two became lovers. Recently, however, she left him and went to live with a wharf coolie.

Yesterday morning, when the wharf coolie was at work, Keu entered the room and attacked the woman. Her condition was said to be serious, but not hopeless.

Emigrant Organization Backs Soviet Union

In a manifesto, issued by the Young Russian ("Mladorossi") Party, Mr. U. A. Stepanoff, leader of the party, calls upon Russians to throw aside all political controversies and to help their native land as much as possible in its struggle against Germany.

The party, although antagonistic toward the Soviet Government, will forsake its previous policy toward the present government in Russia as long as it defends the native soil.

The manifesto states that the "Mladorossi" have expected a German attack against Russia for a long time and that, although unable to take active part in the defence of Russia, they will in words, faith and thoughts belong only to their native land.

The party has always been guided by interest in Russia and her family of peoples and in this difficult moment, when Russian blood flows from the Arctic Ocean to the Black Sea, when the Russian people are resisting every and each German thrust into their country, the members of the party, who are sons of Russia, repeat once again that the place of each Russian is on the side of his nation, that there can be no political controversies, and that Russians can and should give their lives only for their country.

Cholera Passes Needed To Cross Bridges

Cholera passes will be required by all those crossing the Soochow creek bridges into Hongkew during the period from August 5 to August 31, said Mr. Hori, Embassy spokesman at yesterday's press conference here.

The Japanese Anti-Epidemic Association has asked the help of the Japanese Naval Landing Party in carrying out the inspection for cholera passes owing to the fact that the numbers which the Association can call on are limited.

Passes will be considered valid if issued by the Health Department of the Shanghai Municipal Council, the Health Department of the French Municipal Council and by the Japanese Anti-Epidemic Association and the other organizations which it recognizes.

Cholera passes must be carried by all nationals, Chinese, Japanese and foreigners, failing which they will not be allowed to cross the creek.

Special articles are "The Anglo-Japanese Alliance—Why it was Terminated," by the Editor, "Four Years of Sino-Japanese Hostilities," "Japan's 'China Incident' Cabinets," "Shansi Campaign Wound Up" by W. V. Pennell," "Chinese Red Cross Medical Relief Corps," Far Eastern Correspondence includes a letter from the U.S.A. by Randall Gould, from Japan by Phyllis Argall, North China by W. V. Pennell, Malaya by Richard Sidney. Book reviews and other permanent features complete the issue.

The Nazis have suffered heavily in the war in the Western Desert—a type of warfare with which they are not familiar. The picture shows British troops laying a minefield in one of the forward positions, in the hope that indiscreet mechanized forces will drive into it.

Axis Recognition Of New Regime Widely Observed

The recognition of the new Nanking Government by eight foreign nations including Germany and Italy was celebrated yesterday by officials of the new government, and others in extra-Settlement areas with the usual spectacular Chinese festivities ranging from lantern and motorcar processions to fireworks displays in Nantao and Pootung in the evening.

Districts in Chinese territory under Japanese occupation and Hongkew saw buildings gaily beflagged as were the buses and official and private cars.

The festivities began with a celebration meeting in the [illegible]

Settlement.

A number of [illegible] specially erected for the [illegible] outside areas and in Hongkew [illegible] presented an animated scene, [illegible] less thousands of the Chinese populace attended the festivities in the evening.

Observance of the occasion was not marred by any untoward incident of any importance in the Settlement or outside areas except for a bombing incident, due probably to the extra precautions exerted by the police of all areas in Shanghai. In Hongkew special vigilance was exerted by the Japanese military and naval authorities with the stopping of motor-cars, buses and other vehicles and the morning searching of Chinese for concealed weapons.

Japanese Health Official Leaving

Mr. Taro Sato, Health Commissioner in Shanghai representing the Japanese Ministry of Welfare, has been appointed to the health department of Kanagawa Prefecture in Japan, according to the "Tairiku Shimpo" yesterday. Mr. Sato will leave Shanghai to assume his new post on August 15 aboard the N.Y.K. liner Kamakura Maru. Succeeding him will be Mr. Seizaemon Matsuba, official of the Japanese Ministry of Welfare.

Shanghai Now Directly Linked by Radio With Buenos Aires

With the inauguration on August 1, of the Shanghai-Buenos Aires direct radio service by the Shanghai International Radio Office, Shanghai is now, telegraphically, at a single bound connected to the South American metropolis, covering practically half the circumference of the globe simply by a touch of the radio key. This new South American direct service is the first Shanghai has ever had in the history of her international telecommunications, as all radiograms or cablegrams directed from Shanghai to South America heretofore had to be relayed at certain North American points. The establishment of this new service has, however, introduced a completely different system on the South American traffic which can now be sent direct, and thus greatly increase the swiftness, accuracy and reliability of the service.

"Time Magazine" Says Senator Clark Talks Through His Hat

New York, Aug. 1.

"Time Magazine," in an editorial under the caption—"Nonsense in the Senate"—yesterday assailed Senator D. Worth Clark, Republican of Idaho, or his proposal that the United States create puppet Governments in Latin-America.

"This particular bit of nonsense will doubtless be distributed as widely as possible by the industrious Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels (Reich Minister of Propaganda) to whom it will come like manna from the skies," Time Magazine" declared. "It can do harm if taken seriously. But we trust that our Latin-American friends will note that Senator Clark's proposal was promptly and emphatically repudiated by President Roosevelt and Mr. Sumner Welles, and that they will recognize that Senator Clark was talking through his hat and speaking for himself alone."—United Press.

Swiss Community Here Observe National Holiday

Yesterday the Swiss Confederation became 650 years old and on such an auspicious occasion, the local Swiss community of about 200 took part in more elaborate celebrations than they have done during the last few years. A varied programme was mapped out, festivities starting at 7.45 p.m. and being climaxed with a dinner dance which opened at 9.15 p.m.

Prominent at all celebrations was Mr. Emile Fontanel, the Charge d'Affaires and Consul-General for Switzerland. The Swiss community practically turned out in full force to attend the reception and cocktail party held by him in the spacious and gaily decorated grounds of his home at 1,469 Avenue Joffre. This part of the festivities opened at 7.45 p.m.

Flag-Raising Ceremony

When darkness fell, gay lights illuminated the garden and at 8.30 p.m. the Swiss community gathered around the flag-staff and stood at attention while the Swiss standard was run up into the breeze. This was an appropriate moment for the Swiss national anthem to be sung and a patriotic address by Mr. Fontanel wound up this part of the proceedings.

Owing to the current political situation, the celebrants were confined to the Swiss community with the usual list of official guests being dispensed with.

National Aspect Stressed

Celebrations towards the latter part of the evening took a more colourful turn and the national aspect of Swiss life was stressed. At 9.15 p.m. the dinner dance organized by the Swiss Club went off to a fine start with the garden of the Swiss Consulate-General presenting a fairyland of lights. During the course of the evening, a highly appreciated musical programme was provided, items including national songs by a special Swiss choir, hard-organ recitals, yodelling and flag throwing, the last-mentioned being a favoured past-time in Switzerland called "Fahnenschwingen."

Though yesterday was the actual gala day for the Swiss community, some observances of their National Day had taken place earlier. Last Sunday, local Swiss marksmen held their traditional shooting competition at the French Police Rifle Range on Route Frelupt. And yesterday, Swiss citizens here had the opportunity of hearing two of their leading men speak over Radio Station XMHA; the speakers were Mr. Fontanel and Mr. R. Von der Crone, Swiss representative on the S.M.C. Provisional Council.

U.S. Women Begin Run On Nation's Supply Of Silk Stockings

New York, Aug. 1.

Chic women—to whom silk stockings are more important than life itself—yesterday started a run on large department stores here in an effort to stock up as the nation's first hosiery mill closed down in Philadelphia.

Mr. William M. Leader, former president of the American Federation of Hosiery Workers, said that the "closing is only the first in a series." Unless the government agrees to release stocks of raw silk now frozen in warehouses.

N.Y. Stock Market

New York, July 31.

The New York Stock Exchange showed a reversed trend today, rising during the early period and then turning irregular when the bulge in railroad shares failed to attract buying.

The performance on the part of the list was poor, but railroad averages were left at new highs since May, 1940.

The problem of taxes continued to dominate the market.

Bethlehem Steel reported a second quarter huge tax allowance equivalent to US$23.00 a share on an annual basis which brought the company's net income down. The company, however, declared a US$1.50 dividend per share, the same as in the two preceding quarters.

Nervous uncertainty regarding the outlook for Government price controls dominated trading in domestic farm commodities. World sugars rose sharply on the decision by the Agricultural Department to increase domestic consumption quotas. Domestic prices, after reaching new seasonal highs, steadied on the belief that the Department's announcement was a tacit admission that the expected shipping shortages would be more important than the actual size of the quota increase.

Stock trading during July set new highs for any months since December, 1940 and the volume of bond sales was the best since April.

Prices rose on all markets during the months with bonds making the poorest showing.—United Press.

S. Moutrie & Co., Ld. Annual Meeting

A profit of $328,238.53, a record for the company, was shown in a very satisfactory report of the year's working of Messrs. S. Moutrie & Co., Ltd., at the 42nd annual general meeting of shareholders, held yesterday at the offices of Messrs. Ilbert & Co., Ltd., secretaries and general managers, 17 Canton Road, when a dividend of 20 per cent was declared. Dr. W. J. Isenman, chairman, presided supported by Messrs. K. E. Newman, J. F. Brister, directors and shareholders representing 2137 shares.

The chairman in his speech said:—

As the printed report and accounts have been in your hands for some days, I trust I may have your permission to take them as read.

You will have noted that the profit for the year ended March 31, 1941, amounted to $328,238.53 which shows a further substantial increase over the results of the preceding year, and which, in terms of Chinese currency, creates yet another high record in the financial history of your Company.

These highly satisfactory results are due, in no small measure, to the admirable spirit of industry and cooperation which has been displayed by all members of the staff both in Shanghai and elsewhere, and I welcome this opportunity of placing on record the Board's appreciation of your unfailing loyalty to the interests and welfare of the company.

Conditions Abnormal

At the same time, I feel it is my duty to point out that conditions have been abnormal, and that we have been passing through a period of severe price inflation which, due to the depreciated value of the dollar, has resulted in a wave of prosperity which, in many cases, may prove to be more imaginary than real.

The reaction which must inevitably ensue is a matter which has the constant consideration of your directors, who trust that their policy of building up reserves to unprecedented heights is one that will meet with the approval of all the shareholders of the company: it will be noted, that a small reserve has now been allocated as advertising reserve.

Low Valuation of Assets

A glance at the balance sheet now before you, with particular reference to the extremely low figures at which the assets are valued, in conjunction with the substantial total of reserves, will, I think, convince you that your company is in a position to withstand any period of depression which may reasonably be anticipated.

In this connection, however, I should like to refer to the shortage of liquid capital which may be regarded as the one weakness in the financial position of your company at the present time.

This shortage is mainly due to two conditions, both of which I think I am justified in saying are only temporary; firstly, the continued upward trend in commodity prices, and secondly, the freezing of balances held at our Malayan branches. For this reason your board has considered it expedient to adopt temporary remedies in the nature of bank overdrafts and short-term loans, rather than to involve the company in any permanent increase of the issued capital. The issue of new shares has been suggested and has been given careful consideration, but your directors are convinced that such a step would not be in the best interests of shareholders, if only for the reason that the intrinsic value of your shares in several times in excess of the price which could be obtained for any new issue on the local market under present conditions.

I have no further comments to make on the balance sheet except to point out that the balances of depreciation reserve ($6,000), investments reserve ($3,666,34), and the insurance fund reserve ($5,415.02), which are no longer necessary, have been consolidated and transferred to general reserve.

Before proposing the adoption of the report and accounts, I shall be glad to reply to the best of my ability to any questions which shareholders may wish to ask. There being no questions, the Chairman then put the following resolutions to the meeting, all of which having been duly proposed and seconded were carried unanimously:—

That the directors' report and audited statement of Accounts as presented for the year ending March 31, 1941, be and they are hereby received, approved and adopted.

That the recommendations as to appropriations as presented in the report of the directors and statement of accounts be accepted.

That the appointment of Mr. J. F. Brister as a director be confirmed to take the place of Mr. K. G. Stephenson who retires on leaving Shanghai.

That as from April 1, 1940, and until otherwise determined, the annual fee payable to each director shall be CN$2,500.

That Messrs. Lowe Bingham & Matthews be re-elected auditors to the company for the ensuing year at a fee to be arranged.

That Dr. W. J. Isenman who retires in accordance with the Articles of Association and being eligible offers himself for re-election.

The following are the appropriations which were unanimously approved and the shareholders have every reason to be pleased with the year's results.

U.S. Products to U.S.S.R.

Washington, Aug. 1.

Priority rating for the manufacture of 10,000 steel drums to be used for shipping aviation spirit and other petroleum products to Russia has been recommended by the Defence Petroleum Co-ordination Board to the Office of Production Management.

The Deputy Petroleum Co-ordinator, Mr. Davies, told pressmen on Thursday that the recommendation followed conferences with representatives of Amtorg (The Soviet Trading Corporation), which received from the State Department export licences covering a considerable volume of petroleum products.

Mr. Davies added that arrangements were also being made for a tanker service from the western coast of Russia, as it may be required. —Reuter.

Dow-Jones Summary

By courtesy of Swan, Culbertson & Fritz

Stock prices advanced irregulary in moderately active trading today. Rails were strong in spots. Long traders were not perturbed over the rejection of wage demands by the brotherhoods and the decline in car loadings since both have been anticipated. The advance of carriers failed to stimulate new buying in a general market and this induced some profit taking. Reports that aircrafts are indicating swift progress during the first six months brought buying to this group. However, there was no particular pressure in any section.

U.S. Commodities

Thursday's Closing Quotations

New York, July 31.

The cotton market opened irregular today, with quotations ruling from 5 points down to 2 points up. Later, quotations advanced moderately on speculative buying and trade demand. However, there was no follow-through on the uptrend, due to the hesitation of operators, and eventually the market turned easy on New Orleans selling and liquidation. At the close, quotations ranged from 27 to 35 points down from the previous final levels.

Trading was quiet and featureless in the rubber market, with prices closing from 5 to 10 points up from yesterday.

The Chicago Wheat Pit early ruled steady, with values advancing on mill demand. Subsequently, the market reacted on hedge-selling and liquidation, influenced by reports of improved weather in the North-West. At the final bell, losses from ⅜ to ½ cent were registered.

H'kong For. Exchange New Regulations

Hongkong, Aug. 1.

Following freezing of Chinese and Japanese credits, new regulations governing foreign exchange have been officially announced. Henceforth all persons resident in Hongkong are subject to the defence finance regulations, whereas previously only Britishers were affected. Under the new regulations, everyone is required to sell his or her foreign holdings to the Government.

Meanwhile, foreign currency payments and remittances have been suspended by Chinese banks, but transfers of Chinese currency are permissible within the limits previously enforced.

The Government has announced that only the following banks are authorized to deal in foreign exchange the American Express Co., Bank of China, Bank of Communications, Chartered Bank, Chase Bank, Thomas Cook & Sons, Hongkong & Shanghai Bank Mercantile Bank, National City Bank, Nederlandsche Handels Naatschappij, and Nederlandsch Indische Bank.

Remittances to Shanghai are still permissible provided the amount does not exceed 1,500 Chinese dollars a month. Amounts exceeding this must be licensed by the Government, according to a Chinese banker, who added: "This amount would only be sold to those either known to the bank or who could produce satisfactory evidence of having made such remittances regularly in the past."

It is further stated that no contracts for future delivery of Chinese dollars will be signed, not even with an exchange broker, without production of a covering licence.—Reuter.

The company said the plant will remain closed until new supplies of silk or nylon can be obtained.

Union leaders said the shutdown was "only the first" of the anticipated series of closures.—United Press.

Iran Takes Necessary Steps to Keep Order

Teheran, Aug. 1.

Following reports that Nazi agents were active in Iran, the Government yesterday gave assurances that it has taken all necessary steps to maintain peace and order.

An authoritative statement, condemning alarmist rumours, says that the authors appear to be ignorant of conditions in Iran, where the law is strictly enforced on all persons, without distinction.

Moreover, since the world crisis, the Government, determined to safeguard the nation, had redoubled its vigilance.

The statement continues: "Nobody can disobey regulations. The acts, business conduct and way of life of all foreigners are known to the Government, thus making it impossible for them to overstep the lawful boundaries and indulge in forbidden activities. We know their numbers and their names. It is, in fact, possible to say that the figures that have appeared in this connection are greatly exaggerated".—Reuter.

Roosevelt and Halifax Confer on Far East

Washington, Aug. 1.

President Roosevelt and Viscount Halifax, British Ambassador, conferred yesterday and discussed Far Eastern affairs and "future possibilities that may eventuate," according to Lord Halifax. He refused to comment further on this subject.

The British Ambassador said "We also discussed prospects in Russia. The Russian Army appears to be putting up an awfully good fight."—United Press.

Roosevelt Given More Power; U.S. Moving Nearer War

Washington, Aug. 1.

Wider powers for President Roosevelt were agreed upon by the House of Representative's Military Committee yesterday. Adding two amendments to a previous version approved by the Senate, the Committee, by fourteen votes to four, approved legislation authorizing the President to seize military and naval equipment.

The President is also authorized to requisition supplies and munitions, or machinery tools and materials necessary for making such supplies.—Reuter.

U.S. Has Abandoned Isolationism

New York, Aug. 1.

"Fortune Magazine" yesterday stated that its latest nation-wide survey indicated that the United States "has abandoned isolationism and, by a small plurality, now favours taking the risk of a shooting war if that is necessary to beat Chancellor Adolf Hitler."

The survey also indicated that most Americans were willing to accept such sacrifices as consumer taxes, curtailed pleasures and longer working hours.

Gallup Poll

"Some people say that now that Germany is fighting Russia as well as Britain, it is not so necessary for this country to help Britain; do you agree or disagree?"

This question put in a Gallup Poll elicited the following replies: agree 20 per cent; disagree 72 per cent; no opinion 8 per cent.

The second question ran: "Since Germany will probably defeat Russia and then turn her full strength against Britain, it is more important than ever that we should help Britain; do you agree or disagree?"

The replies were: agree 71 per cent; disagree 19 per cent; no opinion 10 per cent.—United Press.

U.S. Urged to Intervene

New York, Aug. 1.

Lord Beaverbrook, Minister for Supply and member of the British War Cabinet, declared in an article published yesterday by the "American Magazine" that "bold plans are needed to destroy bold men" and cited five reasons why the United States should join Britain actively in the war.

These reasons were:

1.—Chancellor Adolf Hitler's plans for world conquest are on the largest scale in history;

2.—Great Britain is the last defence line against such conquest and everything depends on her control of the sea;

3.—If the British Navy falls, invasion is inevitable and world-wide effects will follow;

4.—All good warriors go forth to the foe;

5.—Lines of defence always fail.—United Press.

Nazis Fear Intervention

Stockholm, Aug. 1.

While deeply incensed at America's attitude in this war, German circles continue to be reluctant to create any incident which might lead to the firing of the first shot bringing about active intervention.

Instead, Italy and Germany have launched a combined and systematical campaign through the radio and newspapers of vituperation against President Roosevelt, according to a Berlin correspondent of the Swedish press.

Typical is the charge that Roosevelt intends the United States to conquer the entire world, and that he has personal ambitions to become the world's dictator.

The newspaper "Deutsche Allegemeine" ran a story inferring that the President was responsible for Bolivia's action in ousting Dr. Ernst Wendler saying" a government thus yielding to another state should no longer be entitled to be regarded as a free independent State."—Reuter.

Petrol Ration

Washington, Aug. 1.

Moving toward compulsory restriction in the use of petrol, Mr. Harold Ickes, Secretary of the Interior, called on the oil industry to close 100,000 petrol service stations in Eastern states between 7 p.m. and 7 a.m. seven days a week, beginning August 3.

The closing would affect all petrol stations on the Atlantic seaboard from Maine to Florida.

Declaring that "voluntary rationing hitherto had not achieved the reduction which must be accomplished if we are to avoid a more serious situation later," Mr. Ickes referred to the possibility of more serious rationing, including the issue of ration cards.

Besides 12 Atlantic states, Mr. Ickes's recommendation applies to the District of Columbia and part of five other states.

Asked whether stations refusing to comply with the recommendation would be prosecuted Mr. Ickes replied "I don't believe we have the power to prosecute."—Reuter.

Norwegians Angry Over Nazi Method Of Reprisals

London, Aug. 1.

German reprisals against fathers of young Norwegians who have escaped to join the Free Norwegian forces in Britain, have provoked serious disturbances in towns in western Norway, according to the Norwegian telegraph agency.

In county Sunnmore alone, 70 householders were recently arrested and taken to Aalesund to be transported to a concentration camp. A large crowd gathered, and fights took place with quisling police assisting the Germans. The demonstration continued far into the night, the crowd repeatedly singing the Norwegian royal anthem, and otherwise expressing their indignation at the brutal behaviour of quislings and Germans.

Quislings Busy

Owing to poor results in the recruit campaign for a Norwegian legion to fight in Hitler's "anti-Bolshevik crusade," quislings are taking steps to force people into the legion.

Local branches of the quisling National Union Party have received orders that all their members between the ages of 18 and 35 must report for instructions. Young men at the labour service camp at Troegstad who refused to volunteer were told that the next time they would not be asked, but would simply be taken.

In a leading article dealing with the present attitude of Norwegians towards Finland, the quisling-controlled Oslo newspaper "Nationen" complains that "the most comprehensive propaganda is incapable of obtaining results in a country like Norway."—Reuter.

Germans in Lithuania

Berlin, Aug. 1.

The Reich Commissar for the civilian administration of "Ostland" (a region comprising territory south of Duena and former Lithuania), and the General Commissar for Lithuania, have proclaimed the establishment of civilian administration in these areas and a division of territory according to a Helsinki dispatch to the official German news agency.

Former Lithuania is to be divided up into three districts with centres at Kauen, Vilna, and Schaulen.—Reuter.

Siege State

Stockholm, Aug. 1.

German occupation authorities have declared a state of siege at Alesund, Norway as the result of acts of sabotage and serious demonstrations against the Nazis, late reports arriving here stated yesterday.

The sabotage was believed to have been committed against German lines of communication and military establishments, after which ten prominent citizens were arrested and held as hostages.—United Press.

"Complete Lie" Says Welles in Refuting Miaja Rumours

Washington, Aug. 1.

Mr. Sumner Welles, Under-Secretary of State, termed a "complete lie" yesterday reports that the United States was seeking the aid of Sr. Jose Miaja, former Spanish Republican leader, in the event of an eventual United States occupation of the Canary Islands, the reports said that Sr. Miaja, now a Spanish exile in Mexico, would lead an attempt to overthrow the Spanish Nationalist regime.—United Press.

Bitter Spanish Charges

Madrid, Aug. 1.

The Falangist Party organ, "Arriba," yesterday charged the United States with conspiring with Sr. Jose Miaja, former Spanish Republican leader, concerning a possible coup d'etat by Spanish Republicans under his leadership and charged that the United States planned to occupy the Canary Islands.

The "Arriba" said that American embassy officials in Mexico City had talked with Sr. Miaja there.

The newspaper made the charges an occasion for a violent attack on the United States in which it employed some of the bitterest language seen in the Spanish press for months. It charged America with having designs on Spanish possessions and denounced the Mexican Government for permitting such plotting within its boundaries.—United Press.

Pensions of Last War Still Being Paid

London, Aug. 1.

Revealing in the House of Commons yesterday that pensions and allowances paid to the injured bereaved in the war of 1914-1918 had already absorbed £1,399,000,000 Sir Walter Womersley, Minister for Pensions, said that the amount was greater in proportion to the population than that paid by any other country engaged in the last war.

There were 818,000 pensions scattered in the four quarters of the globe, from the Arctic to the Antipodes, including some in enemy-occupied countries, to the majority of whom part payment was being continued through an arrangement made with the United States.

Some 446 veterans had relinquished pensions to the value of £15,500, to help the national effort, and the sum of £534,000 had been invested by pensioners in war savings.—Reuter.

Germans Using 300,000 Tons of Oil Monthly

London, Aug. 1.

The authoritative Petroleum Press service yesterday estimated that Germany was using oil in the Russian campaign at the rate of well over 300,000 tons monthly.

The estimate was based on the assumption the Germans were employing 15 armoured, 20 motorized infantry and 150 ordinary infantry divisions.

The publication said that this indicated that 6,300 light and heavy tanks, 75,500 motor vehicles, 3,750 motorcycles and 4,000 planes were operating on the eastern front.—United Press.

New U.S. Minister To Iceland Named

Washington, Aug. 1.

President Roosevelt yesterday nominated Mr. Lincoln MacVeagh to be United States Minister to Iceland and sent the nomination to the Senate for confirmation. Mr. Roosevelt's act fulfilled part of the agreement under which the United States assumed armed protection of Iceland.

Mr. MacVeagh was former United States Minister to Greece, and served as a captain and major in France during the World War.—United Press.

New Defence Board

Washington, Aug. 1.

President Roosevelt has created a board to guide the general activities of Federal agencies in economic defence; with the Vice-President Mr. Henry Wallace as its head.

Other members are the Secretaries of State, Treasury, War, Navy, Agriculture, Commerce, and the Attorney-General.

Duties of the board will also include the advising of the President on economic defence measures to be taken, or functions to be performed which are essential for the effective defence of the nation.

The Board will also advise the President on steps to be taken to protect the trade position of the United States and to expedite the establishment of sound peacetime international relationships.—Reuter.

No Increase in Price Of Bread in Canada

Ottawa, Aug. 1.

The threatened increase in the price of bread in Canada has been averted. This was stated by the Minister of Trade in announcing that the wheat processing tax of 15 cents per bushel ended yesterday and will not operate in the new crop-year. The lapsing of the tax, said the Minister, would avoid an increase in the price of bread in Canada, which was threatened. The tax would have heavily affected bakers.—Reuter.

SHIPPING NEWS

According to the latest announcements, the fast American freighter Pan Gulf, operated by Wallem and Company, is scheduled to sail this morning. The vessel is heading for the United States but will be making a stop at Manila; she will be leaving from the Shanghai Wharf and Warehouse Company's Pai Lien Chien Wharf in Pootung, Nantao. The freighter has been in Shanghai since Friday, July 25, arriving from New York and Baltimore.

* * *

After her arrival here yesterday afternoon from Dairen and Tsingtao, the D.K.K. liner Hoten Maru is scheduled to sail again on her return voyage to northern ports tomorrow. The vessel will be sailing at 9 a.m. from the company's Whangpoo Wharf and passengers are required to be on board at least half an hour before she is scheduled to sail. Registered and ordinary mail to catch this vessel must both be posted so as to reach the Head Post Office by 8 p.m. today.

The first comprehensive figures on Norwegian shipping losses during the war have been released by the Norwegian Shipping and Trade Mission in London. Since the European war started in September, 1939, and up to and including February, 1941, Norway lost 159 ships, or a total of 562,521 tons. To these must be added six shipwrecked freighters with a combined tonnage of 20,805. During the period from September, 1939, to April 9, 1940, when Norway was invaded, 54 Norwegian ships totalling 110,283 tons were lost. However, so many ships were added to Norway's merchant marine during those months that her total tonnage was slightly larger on April 9, 1940, than in September, 1939.

Vessels Arriving To-day

The following particulars in connection with vessels due to arrive today are based upon information available yesterday evening.

From KOBE: Taiyo Maru, with mail, due 8 p.m., Wayside Wharf.

Due at Future Dates

All vessels are listed under their terminal port. The first date is that of the ship's departure from that port, and the second is the date she is due to arrive in Shanghai. Where a ship's name is duplicated it indicates the port of call last visited.

On account of the present international situation there is considerable interference with movements of ships, especially those from Europe. In cases where it is definitely known that the vessel is not running to schedule the Shanghai arrival date is omitted.
